

NEW TEST-BAN TALKS SET

—REBELS CHARGED WITH AIDING REDS—

Iraq Renews Fight Against The Kurds

Baghdad, Iraq (AP) — Iraq announced a renewal of war Monday against rebellious Kurds in northern Iraq. It charged the rebels of Mullah Mustafa Barzani harbored Communists and acted like gangsters during negotiations for Kurdish autonomy.

The announcement by Guidance Minister Saleh Al Saadi declared the entire mountainous area inhabited by two million Kurds a military combat zone and gave the rebels 24 hours to surrender. It threatened bombing and destruction to any Kurdish village that resists. Barzani's rebels fought a bloody war for 18 months against the regime of Premier Abdel Karim Kassem, who was ousted and executed in February by Ba'ath Socialist revolutionaries.

In Lausanne, Switzerland, Kurdish representatives swore defiance. "This means war," said

Ismet Sherif Vaney, Barzani's roving unofficial ambassador in Europe. "We will never surrender." (Barzani sent a statement here which claimed the Kurds "helped overthrow the Kassem dictatorship and will know how to defend themselves from the new terror regime installed by a military coup in Baghdad.")

With the removal of Kassem, Barzani agreed to suspend his fight for autonomy and sent envoys to Baghdad to negotiate with the new Ba'ath leaders for a self-governing zone within the Iraqi Republic.

Wanted Share

Barzani also demanded a share in Iraq's rich oil revenues—most of which come from regions in or near the Kurdish provinces of Kirkuk, Sulaymaniyah, Mosul and Erbil.

The announcement by Al Saadi said the new Iraqi government had "proved its good intentions toward the Kurds" by making concessions to Barzani's envoys and agreeing to a "decent realization" of demands for autonomy.

The statement also noted that Kurds were among the Iraqi officials who went to Cairo in April to negotiate the formation of a federation of the United Arab Republic, Syria and Iraq.

No Effect

Al Saadi said the struggle against the Kurds would have no effect on the federation.

But, it said, the Kurds reacted "like gangsters" and made demands which "served the interests of foreign imperialist powers aiming at damaging Iraq's independence and sovereignty."

While the negotiations were underway, the Kurds created 23 incidents, including "sheltering of Communists, murderers and outlaws," raids of villages, attacks on remote police posts, kidnapping government employees and national guards and two attacks on Iraqi army forces, the government charged.

RUSSELL C. SWIFT . . . safe after ordeal.

Angler Survives Trip On Bait Box

Fort Meyers, Fla. (UPI)—Commercial fisherman Russell C. Swift awoke at sea a week ago Monday night to discover his 27-foot vessel rapidly taking water and on the verge of sinking.

Swift, true to his name, quickly grabbed up some canned food, tossed a large bait box over the side, and took refuge in it.

For 6 days he bobbed on the open seas in his unusual craft, measuring 4 feet in length, 3 feet in width and about 4 feet deep.

Rain Water

The only water he had was the rain water he could catch, and he had to use his shoe to keep bailing water from the box.

He spotted several ships during his ordeal, but couldn't signal in fear that any violent movements would cause the bait box to capsize.

On one occasion, he said, the box came so close to shore he could see buildings at Fort Meyers beach, but the tide pulled the box back to sea again.

Finally Sighted

A Coast Guard plane finally spotted the box in which the 45-year-old Swift, a native of West Springfield, Pa., was bobbing.

The pilot directed a nearby fishing boat to pick up Swift, and another copter flew him to Fort Meyers Monday.

Though suffering from sunburn and dehydration, Swift was reported in fair condition. "He acted like it was routine stuff," said Chief Deputy Sheriff Howard Greer. "He said he was concerned, but not scared."

Beet Bill Wins First OK

... TERRY LEVELS BLAST AT SEN. CURTIS

A bill which assigns two new requirements to sugar beet processors won 19-11 first round floor approval in the Legislature Monday after an explosive debate.

The measure, LB526, was introduced by Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff.

Carpenter charged that U.S. Sen. Carl Curtis mustered opposition to the proposal because the Great Western Sugar Co. "helped these people financially in their campaign."

The Scottsbluff lawmaker further alleged that pressure was brought against the measure by "a past GOP chairman" and by Charles Thone of Lincoln, "one of our highest paid lobbyists."

Ex-Chairman

Thone is a former Republican state chairman as is Richard E. Spelts Jr., of Grand Island, who Carpenter had earlier said was involved in opposing the bill.

In its amended form, LB526:

—requires beet processors to equip their weighing scales with recording beams by Jan. 1, 1967.

—requires processors to supply any producer with books and records relative to distribution of proceeds according to terms of contract.

The latter amendment was adopted on a voice vote.

No Inspection

Knocked from the bill on a light 20-18 vote were provisions for the State Department of Agriculture to inspect tests on the product, and a requirement that sugar beet seeds be labeled.

An ensuing motion by Sen. Albert Kjar of Lexington to kill the bill failed on a 13-27 count.

Carpenter argued that the bill is designed to "assure sugar beet growers of fair and equitable treatment. Today they have no recourse."

Processors, he said, "put these growers in a halter and drive them."

Kjar insisted that beet growers in his area oppose the measure.

'Harmful'

Other lawmakers argued that the bill would harm the sugar beet industry, prevent its expansion in Nebraska and assign additional costs to the growers.

Sen. Michael Russillo of Omaha said the cost of prescribed scales would amount to a minimum of $600 each.

But Sen. Arnold Ruhke of Plymouth said he would "question whether a scale would be the difference between getting a factory or not."

Sen. Richard Lysinger of Ravenna suggested that the matter involves "a problem between producer and processor" and should not prompt legislative intervention.

Voting to kill were Sens. Adamson, Bowen, Bridenbaugh, Gerhart, Hasebroock, Kjar, Lysinger, Nelson, E. Rasmussen, R. Rasmussen, Reeves, Russillo and Warner.

Russia, Britain, U.S. To Meet In Mid-July

... WE'LL DELAY N-TESTS IN SKY

Washington (AP) — President Kennedy announced Monday that the United States, Russia and Britain have agreed to send high-level negotiators to start at hammering out a nuclear test-ban treaty.

He said the agreement to start the high-level talks had been reached by Soviet Premier Khrushchev, British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and himself.

Not In Atmosphere

In the meantime, the President announced, the United States will not conduct any nuclear tests in the atmosphere—so long as the Soviet Union and other nations hold back on their tests, too.

Kennedy spoke of the talks as a badly needed first start on negotiations "where the end is in sight." But he cautioned his announcements are "no substitute for a formal binding treaty—but I hope it will help us achieve it."

British officials seemed more optimistic. They expressed hope that a summit conference would follow the Moscow talks. Lord Hailsham, minister of science, will represent Britain.

Moscow announced only that the meetings will start in mid-July and did not name the Soviet representative.

The timing means that the sessions will run simultaneously with, or come soon after, Moscow talks between the Soviet Union and Red China aimed at closing their widening ideological rift. Those discussions start July 5.

After the speech, informants said Kennedy has not selected his negotiator for the Moscow conference. The leading candidates appear to be Undersecretary of State Averell Harriman and John J. McCloy, the President's former adviser on disarmament.

At Some Stage

William C. Foster, director of the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency, reportedly may take part in the sessions at some stage but probably will not lead the first U.S. delegation.

The first congressional reactions to the President's announcements were mixed. Some observers have said that a nuclear ban treaty would create the most bruising battle in the Senate since the League of Nations was voted down after World War I. A treaty would have to be ratified in the Senate by a two-thirds majority.

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana called the Moscow conference

"a step in the right direction, made at the right time."

Foolish

But Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., considered a possibility for the Republican presidential nomination in 1964, said, "We will be dangerously foolish if we abandon testing in any medium—in the air, on the ground or underground. And we will continue to be naive and foolish if we continue to compromise with the Soviets."

The President will have a chance to cement the U.S.-British position at the conference when he meets with Prime Minister Macmillan on a European tour at the end of this month. Some administration officials, in fact, said Kennedy had added a British stop to his tour mainly for this reason.

The President chose an unusual setting for his announcements, and he embellished them with an eloquent plea for world peace.

Commencement

Standing under the broiling sun in an outdoor amphitheater, Kennedy put the significant announcements into a commencement address to a commencement address to American University's graduating class.

Despite the heat, the audience of 10,000 students, teachers, and relatives listened silently and attentively. They burst into applause when Kennedy told them of the impending Moscow conference and again when he announced the halt in American testing in the atmosphere.

"I have chosen this time and place," Kennedy told the graduating class, "to discuss a topic on which ignorance too often abounds and the truth too rarely perceived—and that is the most important topic on earth: peace."

'We Must'

Kennedy said, "We must persevere in the search for peace in the hope that constructive changes within the Communist Bloc might bring within reach solutions which now seem beyond us."

And, in calling for a re-examination of the American attitude toward the cold war, he said that "above all, while defending our own vital interests, nuclear powers must avert those confrontations which bring an adversary a choice of either a humiliating retreat or a nuclear war."

Kennedy said that the conclusion of a nuclear test-ban treaty — "so near and yet so far" — would check the spiraling arms race in one of its most dangerous areas. It would place the nuclear powers in a position to deal more effectively with one of the greatest hazards which man faces in 1963 — the further spread of nuclear weapons.

He said the negotiators in Moscow would try for a "comprehensive test-ban treaty." By this, the President evidently meant it would cover tests in the atmosphere, space, underwater, and underground.

3 Norfolk Ward Aides Charged With Assault

Lincoln Star Special

Norfolk — Assault and battery charges were filed late Monday afternoon by Madison County Atty. Richard Meuring against 3 Norfolk State Hospital ward aides for allegedly mistreating and injuring a middle-aged male patient at the hospital.

The charges were filed in Madison County Court against Herbert Ehrlich and Lloyd Meier, both of Norfolk, and Merle Harris of Winslow.

Meuring's action came after he was asked by Dr. C. G. Ingham, hospital superintendent, to conduct an investigation into a scuffle between patients May 16. The 3 ward aides allegedly broke up the disturbance and in doing so, one of the patients suffered a broken jaw.

Dr. Ingham disclosed Monday that the 3 ward aides were discharged from their duties last Friday, the same day the county attorney informed the superintendent the allegations were apparently true.

In commenting on the action, Dr. Ingham said late Monday: "The overwhelming majority of aides are dedicated, humane, sympathetic and underpaid. We do feel the actions of these 3 certainly do not represent the attitudes of the rest of the aides under any circumstances."

"This was an unfortunate, regrettable incident," Dr. Ingham added, "but once in a while, with over 330 ward aides, there will be times when aides lose their tempers and judgment, although fully instructed that they cannot mistreat the patients."

Retirement Booster For Teachers Dies

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

A bill designed to increase retirement benefits for career teachers was killed Monday on a 26-8 vote of the Legislature.

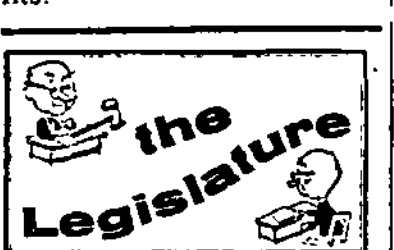

Chief opposition to the measure, LB535, erupted over the fact that it would tend to increase the state's current $40 million unfunded liability of retirement systems by an estimated $11 million.

Sen. Fern Hubbard Orme of Lincoln, who introduced the bill, argued that "the boys and girls of Nebraska need good teachers."

'Very Lowest'

The state's teacher retirement system is currently "the very lowest of the 50 states," he declared.

In its amended form, the bill would have excluded teachers with less than 15 years' service while removing the present 35-year maximum on accumulated benefits.

Rail Laborers To Consider Extension Of Strike Deadline

Washington (AP) — Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz asked the railroads and their operating unions Monday to extend for 5 days the deadline after which a nationwide strike can be called.

Management promptly accepted the delay. A union spokesman said they would meet Tuesday morning to discuss Wirtz' proposal.

Wirtz said in a telegram to both sides "it is imperative that further intensive negotiations continue without disruption of essential railroad service."

Extended

He then suggested that the deadline be extended from 12:01 a.m. Thursday, June 13, to 12:01 a.m. next Tuesday, June 18.

When both sides resumed negotiations with Wirtz Monday they reportedly were no closer to agreement than when the talks began three weeks ago.

If there is no extension and no settlement, the railroads can institute new employment rules after midnight Wednesday and the 5 operating unions representing some 200,000 on-train employees would be expected to retaliate with a strike.

Talking

The rail and union negotiators had been talking against a Wednesday midnight expiration of a ban on action by either side. Labor Department officials said last week the deadline was Tuesday midnight, but earlier Monday they agreed that the deadline is midnight Wednesday.

The new work rules eventually could do away with the jobs of some 40,000 freight and yard train firemen.

The White House has made it plain that a strike—and the resulting effect on the economy—is an intolerable prospect.

Moves Expected

And a strike would be expected to trigger moves in Congress to either authorize federal seizure of the railroads or require a settlement through compulsory arbitration.

ding," a term which the railroads apply to work and employment rules contained in labor contracts. The railroads claim these rules are outdated by modern equipment and operating techniques and cost them about $600 million a year in unnecessary wages.

Basis for the negotiations is a report by a 3-man federal panel appointed by President Kennedy in April after the railroads announced they intended to promulgate the new rules.

Forestalled

Appointment of a board under the Railway Labor Act had the effect of forestalling action by either side until after midnight Tuesday.

The panel recommended that most of the 40,000 firemen's jobs be reduced by normal attrition — such as death, retirement or job change — and then only on a negotiated basis taking into consideration such factors as possible safety hazards.

Crash Kills Nine Scouts, Three Others

Escalante, Utah (UPI) — Twelve persons—9 Boy Scouts, two of their leaders and a woman reporter—were killed Monday night when their open-bed farm truck rolled over a rugged dirt road in remote mountain country south of here.

The other 34 Scouts and leaders in the truck all suffered injuries.

The victims included 7 Boy Scouts from Provo and one each from Ogden and Salt Lake City. Most of the scouts were members of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints from the Provo area. A few were from Salt Lake and Ogden.

The Utah Highway Patrol said the truck was apparently heading up a dirt road along the side of a sheer mountain when its engine failed. The brakes also apparently failed and the vehicle rolled backward, plunging down a deep embankment.

Wallace Ready For Doorway

ALABAMA GOVERNOR CONFIDENT

Tuscaloosa, Ala. (AP)—Gov. George Wallace flew here from the state capitol Monday to try and bar entry of two Negroes to the University of Alabama Tuesday.

"I am confident but, of course, I have anxiety."

He appeared on the scene while university officials awaited the fast-approaching integration crisis and police, bent on preventing violence, seized another hidden store of firearms.

Wallace came to make last-minute preparations for his promised "stand in the doorway" defiance of federal court desegregation decrees. And he came fully aware of the possibility of his arrest if he clashes with the federal government.

Well-Wishers

"Just because I may be arrested does not mean that I will not be the governor of Alabama," he told a crowd of well-wishers at the Montgomery airport. At Tuscaloosa, he was met by state police and national guardsmen.

State troopers, who previously had announced the arrest of 15 white men found carrying guns and other weapons, uncovered 4 pistols, fountain pen-size tear gas guns and dynamite.

Before Wallace left for Tuscaloosa, a spokesman disclosed that he will meet two Negroes at the university door and forbid their enrollment. He said what happens then "depends on what the federal folks do."

He is under a federal court injunction not to interfere with the enrollments.

At Huntsville, where another Negro is scheduled to register Thursday at the University extension center — with Wallace again pledging to be in the door — all was quiet Monday. Huntsville is 150 miles northeast of Tuscaloosa.

Other Action

Around the nation and the world there were these other racial developments:

—About 700 prisoners at the Rahway, N.J., prison farm reported sick and officials called their action a demonstration stemming from racial tensions.

—An integrationist group of 9 successfully tested the playground facilities at Ocean City, Md. They said they had fun but still are dissatisfied with some discrimination. Cocktail lounges, hotels and motels bar Negroes.

Used Hoses

—Officers used fire hoses to break up a march of about 100 Negroes, mostly teenagers, in downtown Danville, Va. They defied an injunction against demonstrations.

—An official of the American Law Institute issued in Philadelphia a statement from 46 leading attorneys throughout the nation calling upon Wallace to abide by federal court orders for desegregation.

—Communist China denounced Wallace as a "notorious racist" and claimed the United States is savagely suppressing Negroes.

Dynamite

In Tuscaloosa, state troopers with the help of city police uncovered 4 sticks of dynamite in a Negro's home, and confiscated the firearms and other weapons from white men.

Hoffa Mute; Plea Innocent

Nashville, Tenn. (AP)—Teamsters President James Hoffa stood mute in federal district court Monday as a plea of innocent was entered for him on charges of trying to influence the jury in his conspiracy trial last year.

Hoffa and 10 co-defendants were arraigned in a 15-minute session before Judge Frank Gray Jr. The judge said he would set a trial date later, leaving the defendants free under bonds ranging from $5,000 to $10,000.

The head of the nation's largest labor union remained silent when asked to plead on the 5-count indictment returned against him by a federal grand jury last month. His counsel said Hoffa was "standing mute," which means he later could attack

Hollywood (AP)—Actress Shirley Maclaine walked into the office of a movie trade paper Monday and slugged columnist Mike Connolly.

Connolly said there were no words, just punches.

But Loretta Lee, the actress' secretary who was there, said there were words.

"Why do you print untrue things about me?" Miss Lee quoted her boss. "As a woman, this is my only defense."

And then she slugged him. Connolly said he did what any red-blooded gossip columnist would do.

Monk Burns In Protest

Saigon, Viet Nam (AP)—An aged Buddhist monk surrounded by 300 other monks calmly put a match to his gasoline-drenched yellow robes at a main street intersection Monday and burned to death before thousands of watching Vietnamese.

The victim, the Rev. Quang Duc, was protesting alleged persecution of Buddhists by President Ngo Dinh Diem's government.

Nuns and monks around him carried banners reading: "A Buddhist priest burns himself for 5 requests."

The grisly demonstration was the latest in a wave of Buddhist protests against the government. The Buddhists demand guarantees of religious freedom and social justice. The government, which is dominated by Roman Catholics denies it has discriminated against any religion.

The incident today began in a Saigon pagoda with an hour-long memorial service for the 8 victims of a bloody demonstration in the central Viet Nam city of Hue on May 8.

JFK SAYS—STAY AWAY

Washington (AP)—President Kennedy told Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace Monday there would be little danger of any disorder at the University of Alabama Tuesday if Wallace would stay away.

Kennedy in a telegram to the governor, added:

"I therefore urgently ask you to consider the consequences to your state and its fine university if you persist in settling an example of defiant conduct and urge you instead to leave these matters in the courts of law where they belong."

SPACE LIMITED, BUT...

Pad For Kennedy In Chelwood Gate

Chelwood Gate, England (AP)—This quiet corner of England wondered today where to put all those visitors when President Kennedy and his party arrive later this month.

It will be the biggest influx of visitors seen here since the 16th Century, when Henry VIII used to go hunting—and courting—in these parts.

The President is assured of a bed — as indeed Henry always was. But for 110 members of Kennedy's party the prospects are not so bright.

Kennedy will stay with Prime Minister Harold Macmillan at his private home, Birch Grove. Where to put the rest?

"I can accommodate two," said William Grove, proprietor of the Red Lion Pub. His pub is just up the road from Macmillan's home.

The Stone Quarry, another hostelry about a mile from the prime minister's house will accommodate 8.

What about the 100 others and the 100-plus press corps that will accompany the U.S. chief executive?

"We have beaten the local bushes," said pretty Joan Auten of the U.S. Embassy, "and are finding places but not at Chelwood Gate."

For one thing, she's taken over the Dorset Arms at East Grinstead 5 miles from here. The press corps, however, may have to stay at Brighton, 28 miles away, down the English Channel.

Over the ages, visiting dignitaries have encountered housing problems in Chelwood Gate, 38 miles south of London.

Fat Henry, who married Anne Boleyn, a girl from these regions, had trouble when he combined hunting in nearby Ashdown Forest with courting Anne.

Before him, John O'Gaunt had housing problems. John also liked to hunt in the forest.

In desperation, many of his followers built hunting lodges and small manor houses in the district. Many of them still stand.

The American President's visit also presents a security problem.

The prime minister's home has no walls around it. Police dogs with handlers will be stationed around the house.

MACMILLAN... returns to London for sex investigation.

Sex, Security Scandal Faces Searching Probe

London (AP)—Prime Minister Harold Macmillan Monday announced a searching judicial inquiry into the sex and security scandal now rocking his government. Scotland Yard hinted at new shocks to come.

Fighting for his political life, the 68-year-old Conservative leader disclosed that Lord Chancellor Dilhorne, chief of the judiciary, has been secretly investigating security aspects of the affair and will report this week.

While Macmillan conferred on strategy with his top aides, a magistrate refused bail to society osteopath Dr. Stephen Ward after Scotland Yard said new, more serious charges may be placed against him. Ward was ordered held for a preliminary hearing next Monday on charges of living on the earnings of prostitutes.

Might Tamper

Scotland Yard said it feared Ward might tamper with prosecution witnesses if he got out of jail.

Monday is also the day Parliament will debate the sensational resignation of War Minister John Profumo after disclosure of his torrid affair with model Christine Keeler, 22.

It was Ward who introduced the red-haired party girl to Profumo and to the Soviet assistant naval attaché, Capt. Yevgeni (Eugene) Ivanov.

Admitted

She has admitted carrying on simultaneously with both men — one of whom knew most of Britain's secrets and the other whose job it presumably was to try to uncover them for the Kremlin. Ivanov was recalled by Moscow last year.

Aides pictured Macmillan as confident of victory in the parliamentary battle which some observers say may topple his government.

The stock market reflected these fears as it took its most severe tumble since the Cuba crisis last fall.

Fears

Behind the setback lay market fears that Harold Wilson's Laborites may soon win power. Industrial shares which might come under Laborite schemes for nationalization or dividend limitation were first to suffer.

Macmillan returned from a Scottish golfing vacation and plunged into conferences with his closest advisers.

Closed

He was closeted most of the day with Deputy Prime Minister Richard A. Butler and Lord Hailsham, minister of science and former Conservative Party chairman.

Political sources said Macmillan is confident that British security will be shown to be neither breached nor negligent.

In fact, they said, Macmillan started the Dilhorne probe to reassure Wilson. The Laborite leader is automatically taken into the government's confidence on security affairs.

Probing

Dilhorne, 57, has been secretly investigating the Profumo scandal for the past 10 days, informants reported.

Political sources said he has interviewed Profumo, though whether this was before or after the 48-year-old war minister quit the government in disgrace last Wednesday was not known.

Dilhorne was formally Sir Reginald Manningham-Buller, attorney general for 6 years. He has a reputation for toughness.

Nude At Time

Ward, who introduced Christine to Profumo at Lord Astor's swimming pool — she says she was nude at the time—applied through his lawyer for bail, which was refused.

Chief Inspector Samuel Herbert of Scotland Yard told magistrate Tobias Springer he had been investigating Ward for 8 weeks. He added that when arrested Saturday Ward said:

"Oh my god, how dreadful. I shall deny it. Nobody will come forward to say it is true."

Strong Guard

Crowds tried to force their way into the packed courtroom to hear the 15-minute preliminary hearing. The magistrate ordered a strong police guard put on the doors.

Ward looked relaxed in a gray jacket, white open-neck shirt and pale blue denim pants.

Doctors quit smoking

CHICAGO—According to a University of Chicago National Opinion Research Center survey, 52% of American doctors do not smoke. Many quit recently due, according to the Anti-Tobacco Center of America, to the conclusive evidence linking cigarettes and lung cancer.

Many doctors gave up smoking without use of will power thanks to a new pill which helps to progressively eliminate the need for nicotine and, as a result, the desire to smoke. Thanks to this pill, 88,648 heavy smokers have already stopped smoking.

Smokers interested in receiving information (free) about this new pill are invited to contact directly the Anti-Tobacco Center of America, Dept. 75G1, 266 Fifth Avenue, New York 1, New York.

Council Changes Zone For Winthrop Rd. Bank

Star Staff Writer
The City Council Monday voted 5-1 to change to local business the zoning of Winthrop Road and Sewell, site of a proposed banking facility in an extension of Rathbone Village shopping center. The action came after a 3-1 vote for approval last week was one vote short of 4 necessary for approval or disap-

stained. Appeal For Bourne
In other business, attorney Rollin Bailey appealed to the council to reconsider action taken last week to deny local business zoning for the northeast corner of 25th and Holder. Mayor Dean Petersen last week cast the decisive vote to break a tie in the 3-1 zoning requested by Kenneth Bourne for a service station on the corner.

Bailey told the council that he and his client failed to appear because of confusion in dates of the hearing.

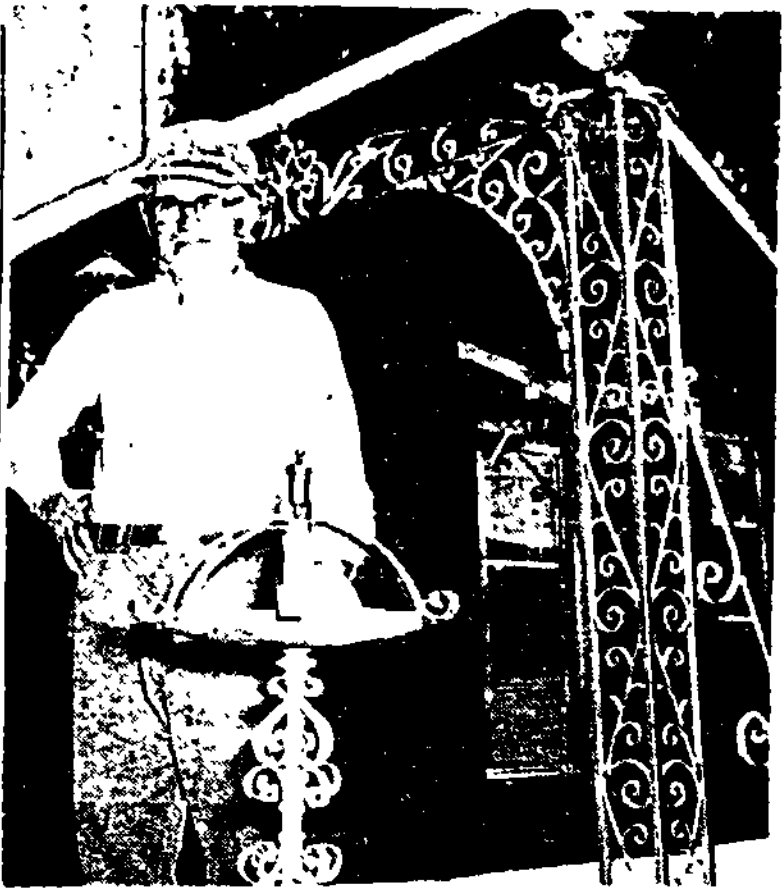

Councilman Lloyd Hinkley said he would be willing to have a revote since Councilman Ervin Peterson was not present last week, but would not change his previous vote for denial.

However, for lack of a motion, no action was taken to reconsider the previous week's decision.

MASTER BLACKSMITH . . . Jake wrought bird bath and arch over driveway.

He Who Works In Iron Needs An Eye For Art

By DICK STUCKEY
Star Staff Writer
Not all blacksmiths are strapping 200-pounders.

A small man, 70-year-old Jacob Giesick has been master blacksmith with the Lincoln Steel Corp. for 35 years. Giesick plans semi-retirement this year.

It's not strength and brawn that makes a good worker of iron, but a kind of artistic eye, according to Giesick.

Since 1929 he has created ornamental ironwork for construction in homes, buildings and yard decor across Lincoln, and in several neighboring states.

Architects have marveled at his "eye" for material creation of their drawing board plans.

All his work is done with hot wrought iron and without the use of forms or molds. Basic patterns are drawn on large wooden blocks, and Giesick's eye and good hands weave the iron into lasting beauty.

Excellent samples of his work are on display in his yard at 1525 So. 6th. A bird bath, an arch over his driveway, benches, tables and other work, all created in various spinning patterns of shining iron, adorn his home.

Giesick came to Lincoln from Russia in 1912. Of German-Russian ancestry, he came to America against his father's wishes, but has earned and created a rich life, exemplified by his creations of iron.

Not Much Loafing

House Unit Nixes Dividend Tax Shift

Washington (UPI) — The House Ways & Means Committee Monday rejected President Kennedy's proposal to tax dividend income at the same rate as wages, rents or interest.

At the same time it turned down on a tie vote a Republican proposal that all taxpayers be given the same incentive to buy health insurance which is available under existing law only to those 65 and older.

Some Republicans had felt this would help lessen pressure for enactment of President Kennedy's Social Security-financial medical care program.

The vote on the dividend tax was 14 to 11. It left intact present law which allows the first $50 in dividends ($100 for married couples filing jointly) to be exempt. Dividends received in excess of that are taxed at a rate 4% below the regular tax rate.

The President in his January tax message, urged that income from stock dividends be taxed at the same rate as wages, rents and interest.

The Ways & Means Committee vote came on a compromise proposal which had the backing of the AFL-CIO. It would have kept the first $50 exemption intact, but would have eliminated the 4% benefit.

This proposal would have yielded $370 million in revenue, and well over one-half of this would have come from taxpayers with income in excess of $50,000 a year.

The votes came as the committee, working behind closed doors, went down item by item on Kennedy's tax reduction and revision program. The package is designed to provide a net reduction of $10.4 billion in personal and corporate income taxes over a 3 year period.

At the two hour session the committee approved only one revision in existing law. It agreed to allow taxpayers 65 or older to claim tax deductions for all medical expenses except medicine and drugs.

'Race News Hurts U.S. Image Behind Curtain'

By B. R. ROTHENBERGER
Star Staff Writer

Heavy doses of this country's racial tensions have not made the people of eastern Europe more content with communism.

But, in the opinion of Loyd Gould, Associated Press correspondent in the Iron Curtain countries, such news has tarnished the image of the United States.

Gould, a Lincoln AP staffer until 4½ years ago, is spending a few days here on leave after 3 years on news assignments out of the Frankfurt, Germany, bureau.

Cling To Beliefs
The hard-pressed masses in Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Poland and Bulgaria have clung to the belief that minority oppression existed in the United States only in the fiction of communist propaganda, the journalist observed.

"What is hurting is that the Red press is making extensive use of news pictures originating in the United States, identifying their sources and letting them tell a story," Gould said.

"For months now the most inflammatory version of our civil rights controversy has been top foreign news," he said.

Gould described life in the satellite countries as unbearably unhappy.

Sovereignty Denied

"The fiction of national sovereignty is denied by the ever-present Russian divisions. The fear of the midnight knock on the door is still real. Even more depressing is general resignation in the belief that rebellion is futile," Gould went on.

The disillusionment of the spirit, he noted, is matched by economic poverty, a result of being bled by Moscow.

The lot of the Western news gatherer is severe. He explained:

"We are permitted in the Iron Curtain countries only at the sufferance of the Red governments. We are shadowed. Our rooms are bugged.

Regimentation
"We are required to live and eat at designated places. We can confront officials, when they are willing. We live by our visas which can be and frequently are cancelled if what we write is displeasing," said Gould.

"The thing they cannot censor are the sights we see and the impressions we gather. These are the valuable facts we can relate when we are back in freedom," Gould stressed.

An exception is Yugoslavia. "One can go and come there freely. One can communicate without fear of reprisal. It is a totalitarian country without the black atmosphere of total despair."

Union Airport Annexed In Unanimous Decision

The City Council Monday unanimously passed an ordinance annexing Union Airport to Lincoln.

Representatives of firms who are locating in the area known as the Sias Industrial Tract spoke out in favor of the annexation at a public hearing on the third and final reading of the ordinance.

Paul Boyce of Minneapolis, Minn., vice president of the Northwestern Corrugated Box Co. which is building a new plant on the tract, told the council his firm had decided to locate in Lincoln "because of the excellent business health here."

Hope For Water

Lloyd Marti, attorney representing the box company, expressed hope that annexation would result in "adequate water service to the area."

Also speaking in favor of annexation were John Fraker, executive vice president of the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce, which has been promoting the industrial sites, and Roscoe Hill, who is building a complex of buildings for the Hill Hatchery on the site.

No one appeared in opposition at the hearing.

The council also approved deletion of a portion of a tract between O St. and the Missouri Pacific railroad from 63rd to 66th from an ordinance for annexation.

3 Protests
Three property owners appeared in protest of annexation, pointing out that the area is agricultural and annexation would result in higher taxes.

Councilman John Mason moved to delete the south half and the east half of the area proposed for annexation from the ordinance.

The council approved the deletion but postponed final decision on the ordinance until next week.

The land pending for annexation is owned by Eldon Taylor, Harold Conant and Roy Sankey.

Kennedy Names Lewis As Lincoln Postmaster

Kenneth P. Lewis was appointed Lincoln postmaster Monday. The appointment by President Kennedy follows the recommendation of Gov. Frank Morrison.

Lewis has served as acting postmaster since March 31, 1962, when former Postmaster O. E. Jerner retired.

Routine
Confirmation of his appointment is expected from the U.S. Senate by the first part of July.

Lewis said Monday he was pleased to see the mechanics of completing his appointment are in the final stages.

His more-than-a-year administration of the $5 million a year local business has been marked by a policy of increased employee-management communications and subsequent boosted morale among workers, according to reports.

"We will continue to give the public the best service we know how to give," he said.

Former Printer
Prior to his appointment to the $10,075-a-year job, Lewis was a printer for nearly 30 years at the Journal-Star Printing Co., and for nearly 4 years served on the City Council.

In addition, he served many years as secretary of the Lincoln Central Labor Union and has been a member of the City-County Planning Commission.

Lewis, a Democrat, was one of the top 3 scorers on the Civil Service examination for the permanent postmastership. His appointment indicates that a protest by Lawrence C. Meyers, another candidate for the post, was not recognized.

Summary Of Conditions

A high low-pressure area is centered over the central Great Lakes region and a cold front extends westward across northern Illinois, southern Iowa, northeastern Nebraska, and southwestern South Dakota north through eastern Montana. Cool Canadian air is pushing south behind this front and this front will push south to southwestern Kansas, northeastern Oklahoma, northern Arkansas, and southern Kentucky northwards by Tuesday evening. High pressure will form a cell over northwestern Minnesota. This means that skies will be generally fair Tuesday through Wednesday, although there may be a return to partly cloudy skies Wednesday. It will be warmer generally Wednesday. No precipitation is expected through Wednesday.

Extended Forecast

NEBRASKA: The temperatures for the 5-day period Tuesday through Saturday will average 3 to 5 degrees below seasonal normals. Turning cooler at beginning of period with only minor daily changes. The normal highs are upper 60s to 70s in central Nebraska to around 80 southern border area. Normal lows are mid-50s in central Nebraska to near 60 in southeastern Nebraska. Precipitation will average about one-half inch in central Nebraska to between one-half and three-quarters of an inch in eastern Nebraska, occurring as showers on Friday or Saturday.

KANSAS: The temperatures for the 5-day period Tuesday through Saturday will average 3 to 5 degrees below seasonal normals in northern and western Kansas to near normal in southern Kansas. Turning cooler beginning of period with minor day to day changes. Normal highs are 60 to 65 degrees. Normal lows are upper 50s northwestern Kansas to lower 60s southeastern Kansas. Precipitation will average around three-quarters of an inch, occurring on Friday and Saturday.

What Grandparents Should Know About Trusts

Every grandparent who plans to make provisions for the grandchildren should know whether it is more advantageous for the shares to be left to them outright or in trust.

Leaving property outright to a minor involves five major disadvantages:

1. The expense incurred in a guardianship
2. Limitations on the management of the property
3. Limitations on the use of the property
4. The unrestricted control over the property by the child upon attaining majority (age 21, or at date of marriage of a girl who marries before 21)
5. The problems which may arise upon the premature death of the child.

If the shares of minors are left in trust, no guardian need be appointed; but if their shares in an estate are left outright, a guardian must be appointed. The guardian must post bond. The annual premium required on this bond is expensive and is in addition to the guardian's fees. The first disadvantage of leaving property outright to children is that it is needlessly expensive.

When property is left outright to a minor, rigid restrictions are imposed upon the management of the minor's property. If, however, you leave the minor's property in trust, you can give your trustee broad and appropriate powers of management. If property is left outright to a minor, there is no assurance that either the income or the principal can be used for the support and education of the minor. The probate court may forbid use of the minor's funds if the parents are able to provide for these expenses. But if the child's property is left in trust, the trustee may be authorized to use and apply both income and principal for the support and education of the child.

Perhaps the greatest disadvantage of a guardianship is that it ends when a child attains the age of majority, at which time the property is turned over to the child outright. Ordinarily 21 is the age of majority but a girl who marries earlier becomes of age upon marriage. In most cases it is preferable to defer the unrestricted ownership of property until a person reaches a more mature age, and most of us would feel that when a girl marries before 21 that is more rather than less reason for deferring ownership. Use of a trust is the best safeguard. For example, you may provide that the child receive a portion of the principal at age 25 and balance at age 30, or any other combination that appeals to you.

If property is left outright to a minor, the child may die before receiving it and before he has a right to make a will. In such a case, the property may go to the child's parents, which may be undesirable from the tax standpoint. Under a trust, if a child dies during minority, the terms of the trust will determine the distribution of the property.

It is seldom desirable to leave property outright to minor children. There are many advantages in leaving the minor's property in trust.

Talks Bring Hope And Risks

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

Once again, the major powers of the world will seek an end to the nuclear testing that has cast a shadow over world peace since the days of World War II. For more than a decade now, nearly two, the communist and democratic nations have sought to find the means whereby they could end the testing of nuclear weapons, the threat this constitutes to the world in terms of arms and its pollution of the atmosphere.

The effort will be resumed, as announced by President Kennedy, at a "high level" meeting in Moscow in July. Participating will be top personal representatives of the President, Premier Nikita Khrushchev and Britain's Prime Minister Harold Macmillan. The matter is one that has occupied much of the President's time and one that has clearly stumped him. On the face of things, it would appear that a nuclear test ban was almost inevitable because of the consequences of any final failure to arrive at an agreement. And there is no doubt that all nations share the same opinion on the question.

Thus, such universal hope should necessarily lead to something but it does not. The difficulty stems, of course, from the fact that the agreement must be reached between antagonists. This implies a struggle and a winner and a loser and neither force wants to be on the losing side. The struggle exists at the ideological level but this does not mean it is abstraction without specific force and effect.

This nation can never forget that part of communism which places the end of all things at the ultimate conquest of that form of government over democracy. This nation is not necessarily dedicated to the destruction of any other force in the world but is oriented toward its own preservation.

That is the basic difference between the two systems. We could live with communism but communism cannot live with democracy. Therefore, we must either see the destruction of communism or its alteration into something with which we can live. It is plain to see that one side or the other is not going to be a winner. What we seek in the nuclear arms control area of world events is more than just a solution to this one problem. We hope that with it will come a modification of the Soviet system so that it might one day evolve into the kind of system with which we can live in peace. The nuclear test ban treaty would certainly be a step in this direction.

Such a treaty would not constitute a victory or loss in any specific military terms. In this area of things, it would simply be a stalemate. But it would constitute an admission, whether admitted or denied, by the Reds that two conflicting powers or forces must learn to live at peace together in the world or they both shall perish. If a test ban agreement can be worked out, the communist theory of ultimate conquest would have a large hole shot in it. From that small opening could come greater things by which we might find the peace that all men look for. We have a positive dedication to our own way of life while the Reds have a negative dedication to the destruction of ideas in conflict with their own. When they become positively oriented toward their own system alone, then we will have taken the first major step toward the direction of real and absolute freedom for all men.

Does this mean, as some claim, that we have a "no win" foreign policy, that all we look for is a break even with the communists? It does not mean this in any sense of things. It means something quite different for the simple reason that we are convinced that democracy is the logical and natural inheritance of all societies.

We believe that, given an opportunity, all men will eventually follow a free path. The difference between communism and democracy boils down to force in the case of the former as opposed to free choice in the case of the latter. We do intend to win but not at the expense of anyone. Rather, our victory will be a victory of freedom that men have won for themselves, just as we did.

This is why such hope rides on the agreement to control nuclear bomb testing, because it is a giant first step toward the ultimate state of world affairs that we seek.

How the Kremlin may view the situation is quite another story but a test ban agreement would mark a point of jubilation in the history of the free world. It is because we have such hope of an agreement that President Kennedy has cautioned against over-confidence or excessive optimism. Because the U.S., England and Russia will be meeting does not mean they will come to an agreement.

The fact that they may not is the risk that we are taking. Failure to agree could mean a hardening of present cold war positions and a stiffer test between the world powers. The risk, however, is one which the U.S. must be willing to take for the sake of those ideals for which it stands, for the sake of free men everywhere and those who long to be free.

Nebraska's Decision

Defeat of sales and income tax proposals was attended by nothing more than a mild reaction in Nebraska. Continuing a status quo, even though an unsatisfactory one, is never as heady as effecting a change.

Neighboring states were more moved. The Des Moines Register commented, "Iowans certainly do not envy Nebraska's tax situation. It is far more inequitable than the Iowa tax setup in the way it affects various groups of taxpayers. It also results in inadequate support of education."

The Register went on to say: "The fight to alter Nebraska's tax system has been made at every session in recent years. The main advocates of less reliance on the property tax have been farmers, small town people and school supporters. Hope for a revision of the tax system was higher this year and legislative support stronger. The major drive was for an income tax, which had been recommended by an out-of-state economist hired by the Legislative Council Tax Study Committee which had worked on the problem since the last session.

The defeat of the income tax proposal was laid by opponents and supporters alike to opposition to increased spending. It was feared that making it easier to raise more state revenue would result in higher per capita taxation, which is low in Nebraska. The arguments for shifting the tax load so that it would be more equitable and for raising more money which is badly needed for schools couldn't overcome the economy sentiment.

"Nebraska relies mainly on the property tax for not only revenue for local governmental units but also for revenue for state institutions and services. Its taxation system is about what Iowa's was in 1930, before the state levied income and sales taxes and abandoned a statewide levy on property."

A New Slogan

The Nebraska Legislature gave a 40 to 0 endorsement of the proposals of its legislative council on the subject of tourism. It adopted a new state slogan, a hospitable one which says, "Welcome to Nebraska-land, Where the West Begins."

Accompanying the slogan will be a symbol carrying an ox drawn covered wagon, reminiscent of homesteading and pioneer state building.

Certainly this is fitting, and Nebraskans will accept their new image with as much unanimity as was shown by the legislature. If the alien people will respond with as much good will Nebraska can look forward to lots of company.

It follows that the general invitation calls for activity by the entertainment committee. In this area the legislature has not been quite as generous. It is still under the impression that tourists should come here and look at what we have selected for them, and do the things we think they should do.

More successful tourist states reverse this. They determine what the tourist wishes to see and do and then provide for that. The result is they get the business. They get a lot of our business, too.

Florida and Arizona are bidding for and getting too many of our older citizens by catering to the need for slightly retirement areas where living costs are moderate. They are aware that retired people spend an aggregate of millions which help the community wheels to turn without competing for employment.

This is by way of saying that our rustic vistas are attractive and our historic sites are bonafide, but catering to the desires of our own as well as outsiders is a more positive way of building a more abundant economy.

A Tradition We Like

One look at the women's section of the morning paper has reminded us that this is the month of many weddings. These pages of the paper are full of reports on brides who selected June as the month for being married. Why this month is so much more popular than others for getting married is something we are not fully informed on but this does no damage to the practice.

"Perhaps Mac Might Be Glad To Have Some Old, Tired Blood In The Government Again"

DREW PEARSON

Fallout Danger Point Unstated

WASHINGTON — Congressmen who listened to government testimony regarding radioactive fallout were flabbergasted to learn that the Atomic Energy Commission and the Public Health Service have not yet fixed any standards to show when and where the danger point in radioactive fallout has been reached.

Meanwhile, atomic testing in both the United States and Russia has increased the poison in the atmosphere. Yet the government has shied away from telling the public or the medical profession or state public health services just where the danger point is.

This was developed by Reps. Chet Holifield, D-Calif., and Mel Price, D-Ill., during cross-examination of Dr. Paul Tompkins, director of the Federal Radiation Council last week.

Under pressure from the two congressmen, Tompkins finally promised to set up danger guidelines next year. Meanwhile, the Joint Atomic Energy Committee of Congress heard testimony that between September 1961 and August 1962, the city of Salt Lake City had been doused with 38,860 picocuries of iodine 131. This is the ingredient in radioactive fallout which is especially dangerous to the thyroids of young children.

The dose which Salt Lake City received during the twelve-month period of 1961-

62 was considerably more than the full year's level previously recorded. The picocurie is one-millionth of a millionth of a curie.

During the same period, the level of iodine 131 went up in Kansas City to 33,831 and in Des Moines to 32,890. At one time in 1957-58 the iodine 131 count at St. Louis stood at 91,250, which is three times the yearly average which health experts unofficially have said was safe for young children.

Dr. Tompkins was cross-examined vigorously by Congressmen Holifield and Price as to why the government had not fixed definite guidelines for the radioactive danger point. He replied that the government would be reluctant to propose radiation counter measures in food distribution rather than reduce the source of radioactive materials.

"The cold hard fact is that we may not be able to 'turn off' fallout at will," Rep. Price scolded. "How is it possible for the administration concerned with public health and food activities to make decisions without protective guidelines on radiation?"

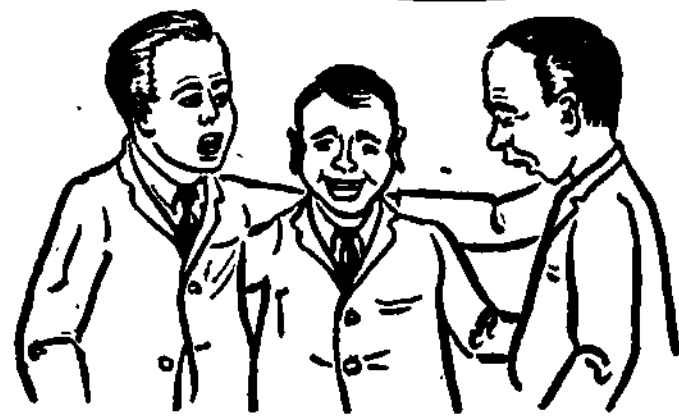

"Some guidance for health purposes is needed," Dr. Tompkins admitted. "We all agree to this. Within the next year the council will make some very positive recommendations dealing with this problem."

Welcome Class of '38

The years have a way of sneaking allently up behind us. If we aren't careful, they will overwhelm us and suddenly we will find ourselves getting into a rut. It seems as the years go by, we have the habit of looking back. Maybe we put them in proper perspective in relation to our lives but always it seems one question remains: "Where have the years gone?"

My high school class had its twenty-fifth reunion this year in our little town. I wondered if the seniors who graduated thought we looked as old as I thought the twenty-five year class did the year I graduated. At that time, the silver in the hair and the sensible ways were a certain sign that life had just about ebbed away. To me they seemed old.

Within the past quarter century, my attitude has changed. The silver in the hair makes little difference. The fact that one of our members is a grandmother makes little difference, either. I am certain we don't look old!

The years do have a way of showing through, however, to those with young eyes. But one thing youth doesn't know. Age is measured from the inside out, not from the outside in. To have young ideas and be willing to change ideas with the fast-moving pace of time is as much a part of living as the aging process.

The past weekend here at the farm has been such a delightful one. It ended with a badly needed rain — a rain that was accompanied by thunder rolls of thunder. The thunder echoed from cloud to cloud and the sky was filled with heavy blue clouds rolling low over the countryside. It was the kind of "build-up" that told us this was no phony — there would be rain this time.

There is something arresting about the first drops that begin to fall. It's like the introductory chords to a great piece of music. It attunes the ears for the harmony of the arias yet to come.

The drops fell faster and faster and settled into a muffled beat of water against the roof. The Farmer settled back to read the Sunday papers. As the rain continued to play upon the windowpanes, he settled still farther back until he was asleep. The air of contentment that comes with the wish for rain fulfilled could not have been more aptly demonstrated than it was then . . . a delightful way to spend a Sunday afternoon.

The sweet clover is blooming sending the flowery scent into the yard when the days are warm and the wind is right. The bees have found the choice field and the hives are buzzing with activity. When the days are dark and cool, scarcely a bee ventures outside the hive. However, I doubt we will have such cool, cloudy days in June as we had the latter part of May. At any rate, I do not plan to make any studies into the lives and habits of bees. So long as they keep to the sweet clover field, I will keep to the yard.

My father tells of the days when he and his brothers filled a dark jug with water, armed themselves with several flat boards and set off for the prairie. They would locate a bumble bee nest. While one held the jug slanted on the ground near the nest, the others slapped the ground with the flat sticks, making a loud popping noise. This annoyed the bees. They flew from the nest and immediately into the spout of the jug where they drowned.

Despite the danger involved, he doesn't remember anyone's getting stung. His parents, of course, knew nothing of their so-called "fun."

Should his grandsons want to try their luck in capturing bumble bees in such a way, he would be forthright in his advice against it.

Objects To Art

Lincoln, Neb.

My recent visit to the new Sheldon Art Gallery on the university campus was a revelation of architectural beauty and symmetry, conservative and modern art. How fortunate for the Lincoln community to become the recipient of such benefactors as the Sheldon family. Memory persists in beauty, mingling that which is with that which is to come.

However, a point of criticism must be registered regarding "Still Life No. 15" by Tom Wesselman. This painting occupying a prominent place on the north wall of the second floor is a composite of the following: an apple, a lemon, a slice of beef, a tobacco field, bust of George Washington, and highlighting it all, a huge bottle of whiskey.

Being a native son of Kentucky, which distills some four-fifths of the whiskey made in the USA, I can understand the reason for the bottle and the tobacco field. Nevertheless, being the son of a Kentucky father who drank, and the brother of one who died an alcoholic, I must object. Apples and lemons are splendid fruit; George Washington was "the father of our country." Therefore it seems altogether tawdry and inelegant to have the whiskey stand out as it does. To youth and maturity as they observe the painting, Mr. Wesselman is saying that the most significant object here is not fruit, beef, not even tobacco, nor Washington, our first president—but King Alcohol. Does this depict the highest or the "lowest" ethics in art?

Having recently moved to Lincoln, I have been most impressed with this fair city. The friendliness and hospitality of the people have been most outstanding.

However, there is one thing that has marred my initial impression. This has to do with the large number of hot-rodgers and noisy vehicles speeding along the residential streets. These are not only irritating but also extremely dangerous.

Doesn't Lincoln have a law regarding noise as a public nuisance? If it does, why are the speeding laws and the noisy muffler laws not enforced?

May I put in my four cents worth? Oops! It went up one cent!

I don't see why the driver's education bill should be financed by increasing the driver's license fee, just to grave train for years through legal mechanics of a law.

They make statements such as that a corporation income tax would hurt our chance for industry. This is plain silly, as 39 other states have it and in less than four years all other states will.

Those who think that Nebraska should have an income or sales tax should move to a state that has these things. In a short time, they would be happy to move back. The only people I know who favor an income tax are those who feel they would derive a financial benefit from it.

Driver's Training

Lincoln, Neb.

May I put in my four cents worth? Oops! It went up one cent!

I don't see why the driver's education bill should be financed by increasing the driver's license fee, just to have the young people get their driver's training. I like others think that it is the responsibility of the parents. If they want the children to be good drivers, let them pay it out of their own pockets.

Most of them buy a car and let a 15 or 16-year-old child drive to and from school when, in most cases, it is within walking distance. Even if it were two miles, let them walk. That's what they need.

Most of the young people are good drivers, except that they don't obey traffic laws or pay any attention to stop signs. When they get out on the open highways, they try to get ahead of every car in sight. They either make it—or else.

So why should other drivers pay for it? How much longer will we have to keep on paying for everything they want? No training will stop a "show-off" driver. They would do better to study their three R's.

No child should be allowed to drive a car until he is out of high school. By then they should be grown up and act like adults.

Elders Find Profitable New Careers In Selling Game

By ROBERT PETERSON
There are many sayings which appear true but aren't. One is the cliché that there's no employment for older people. This has been said so often that most people swear it's true.

But the other day I asked famed Elmer Wheeler, 54, for thoughts on the subject. "Nobody has to be unemployed if he doesn't want to be," replied this ex-newsman who has been a salesman for 30 years. "Those of any age who want to work can always take up selling on a commission basis."

"I happen to love the selling game," he continued, "and simply can't understand those who say they'd rather die than sell. Ever since Marco Polo, selling has been a respectable pursuit. Some of the highest incomes in the nation are earned by men and women who sell on a commission basis.

"Selling in one form or another is the bread-and-butter mainstay of perhaps one-quarter of all employed men and women. Yet folks accustomed to standard factory or office jobs somehow get it in their heads that they can't sell or don't want to sell. And when they lose their desk or assembly line job and can't find a similar one they feel all is lost."

What are some of the products older people might sell? "Just about anything from autos to zithers. Of course, most national firms with big names distribute their products through a corps of trained salesmen.

Some of these big firms do impose age restrictions. But there are thousands of manufacturers of fine products who'll welcome with open arms anyone of my age who says, 'I'd like to sell your product in my area -- what kind of a commission will you give me on sales?'"

What's the first step in selling? "It's just a matter of taking your product around and showing it to people. If you demonstrate it and ask people to buy, a certain percent of them will reach for their wallet. This is the most elementary form of selling."

"As you refine your sales approach you'll want to explore the maxim about selling the sizzle instead of the steak. Instead of merely emphasizing the product one must stimulate interest in the pleasures and benefits which ownership of the product will bring. Selling has an infinite number of refinements, techniques and methods, depending on the product involved. But they all take a back seat to the basic principle of showing what you've got to sell and asking people to buy."

"Over the years I've encountered hundreds of older men and women who took up selling and launched new and profitable careers. And I really feel anyone with incentive to succeed can make money as a salesman — regardless of his age."

These comments by a recognized authority on sales are significant for they indicate that the employment field is not as barren of opportunities for older people as we may have been led to believe.

If you would like a booklet "The Selling Game" or a list of firms offering sales jobs to older people, write to the editor of The Lincoln Star enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 10 cents to cover handling costs.

Nebraska State Slogan, Symbol Passed

A bill under which Nebraska adopts "Welcome to Nebraskaland, Where the West Begins," as its official state slogan was passed 40-0 by the State Legislature Monday and sent to Gov. Frank Morrison for signature into law.

The measure, LB747, also adopts a symbol carrying an ox-drawn covered wagon and the new slogan as the state symbol and provides for its copyrighting.

The bill was introduced by Sen. J. W. Burbach of Crofton, chairman of an Interim Legislative Council Study Committee on Tourism, with Sens. Ross Rasmussen of Hooper and George Gerdes of Alliance as co-sponsors.

Another bill passed Monday renames the 4 state teachers colleges. What previously had been designated "the Nebraska State Teachers College at Chadron" becomes "Chadron State College. The same change applies to the colleges at Kearney, Peru and Wayne. Seven bills altogether were passed Monday. The 1st (E-emergency clause):

LB448 (Prose, Skarda, Medlin, Rasmussen)—Broadening law covering registration of motor vehicles to include trailers, increasing the number of Nebraska Motor Vehicle Dealers Licensees from 100 to 150, and increasing the license fee from $10 to $15.

LB471 (Hatch, Rasmussen, Gerdes)—Adopting "Welcome to Nebraskaland, Where the West Begins" as official slogan of Nebraska, and adopting as a copyrighted symbol an illustration of the ox-drawn wagon.

LB483 (Hatch, Rasmussen)—Authorizing state tax commissioner to settle disputes over the proper county in which personal property is to be listed for tax purposes.

LB484 (Clauson, Rasmussen, Brandt, Gerdes)—Renaming the state teachers colleges as Chadron State College etc., and requiring approval by voters pending for out-of-state trips by public employees.

LB487 (Hatch, Rasmussen, Rasmussen, Brandt)—Providing for summary, notice, method of service and voluntary appearance by parties in summary proceedings for summary judgment, and providing for summary judgment in cases for appointment of juvenile guardian of the person of a minor.

LB488 (Klar, Rasmussen)—Providing for appointment of juvenile guardian of the person of a minor in cases for summary judgment.

LB489 (Hatch, Rasmussen)—Providing for summary judgment in cases for appointment of juvenile guardian of the person of a minor.

Belaunde Leads Peru Elections

Lima, Peru (AP)—U.S.-trained architect Fernando Belaunde Terry of the left-leaning Popular Action Party Monday night seemed assured of victory in Peru's presidential race.

Unofficial returns from national elections Sunday put him well out front but again charges of vote fraud threatened to upset Peru's second try in a year to elect a civilian government.

Belaunde was running at a pace easily ahead of the requirement that a candidate must poll one-third plus one of the total votes cast to be declared elected.

Catholics Support

Belaunde, 51, drew support from both Roman Catholics and Peru's small, outlawed Communist Party in outpacing his major rivals, Victor Raul Haya de la Torre of the American Popular Revolutionary Alliance (APRA) and retired Gen. Manuel Odría.

All major candidates declared themselves on the side of the West in the cold war, although both Belaunde and Haya favored some socialist practices at home.

The vote fraud dispute, now before the National Election Board, may delay the official tabulation—which had been expected next weekend—for more than a week and possibly set back the military government's avowed intention to turn over rule to the newly elected civilian government July 28.

Annulled Election

Last year the military stepped in and annulled the election results when it appeared Haya might be elected in a race thrown to congress to decide because none of the presidential candidates got the required minimum in the popular vote. The military justified its takeover by leveling vote fraud charges at its traditional foe, Haya's leftist but anti-Communist APRA.

This time, however, APRA claims thousands of its supporters were deprived of their vote because of fraudulent tabulations (states). APRA placed responsibility for these alleged irregularities on the armed forces, which supervised the voting.

The National Election Board will not release official figures until all votes are tabulated. Newspapers and radio stations compiled the unofficial tabulations from figures obtained at election districts.

Opinion: Lincolnite Has 2 Power Polling Paths

An attorney general's opinion indicates that Lincoln voters have two methods by which they could force an election on acquisition of Consumers Public Power District's Lincoln electric distribution system.

The Legislature has been told that two means are available:

—petition by 5% of the voters under the power of initiative to reverse and override any action taken by the City Council.

—petition by 5% of the voters at the last gubernatorial election to amend the city charter which now allows the city to operate an electric utility.

Initiative 'Useable'

"We believe the initiative method to override the action of the council requesting a transfer of the distribution system of a competing public power district could be used," the opinion stated.

As to the second method, the opinion noted that "the Lincoln city charter could be changed at any time if the procedure outlined in that constitutional provision is followed."

The opinion was signed by Meyer and Asst. Atty. Gen. Homer Hamilton.

At issue are terms of LB633 which is scheduled to come up for final passage Tuesday or Wednesday.

Within A Year

The bill provides for Lincoln to assume operation of the combined city utility and CPPD's distribution system within one year. The city would then acquire the system in 1972 without cost and without a vote of the people.

Consumers General Manager Ray Schacht of Columbus said earlier Monday that he has been given an official opinion indicating that passage of LB633 would "almost certainly lead to a series of lawsuits by holders of Consumers bonds."

Schacht said the firm of R. W. Beck and Associates reported it has "grave doubts" that an agreement could be entered into between Consumers and the city of Lincoln as proposed in LB633 which would fully comply with requirements of the resolution and covenants of the district's bond resolution and which would not be challenged by the bondholders in the courts.

Residual Effect

The firm stated its opinion was based on the effect on the residual Consumers over-state system resulting from the city of Lincoln managing and controlling the Lincoln portion of CPPD's over-all properties.

The financial operations of CPPD are controlled by bond resolutions, and R. W. Beck and Associates are the consulting engineers responsible to the bondholders for official supervision of Consumers' activities in this field.

"In light of this official information," Schacht said, "I am more than ever convinced that LB633 is unworkable legislation that would adversely affect the city of Lincoln, Consumers Public Power District and their customers."

"It should be indefinitely postponed."

Schacht Challenged

Schacht's statement was challenged by Lincoln City Atty. Ralph Nelson and Lincoln attorney Clarence Davis, a former Consumers lawyer.

"From a legal standpoint the bill is sound and provides adequate safeguards to protect the city, Consumers, their customers and Consumers bondholders," Nelson said.

CPPD's opinion, Davis said, came from an engineering firm rather than from bond attorneys.

"Obviously nothing can be done to hurt the bondholders because the bill says this cannot be done," he said.

Rep. Beermann Gives Testimony For Salt-Wahoo

Washington (UPI)—Rep. Ralph F. Beermann, R-Neb., testified late Monday before the House Public Works Appropriations subcommittee on behalf of Nebraska's Salt-Wahoo Watershed project.

President Kennedy's budget included $4.2 million for the flood control works, and Beermann told the subcommittee the money would cover activities "that have been conscientiously programmed" for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

"We wanted the committee to know the people of the area are grateful for what the committee has done in the past and for its continuing cooperation," he said. "The work already completed has reduced excessive run-offs."

Beermann submitted statements from Gov. Frank Morrison, Chairman Ralph E. Harlan of the Lancaster County Board, Lincoln City Councilman and former Mayor D. L. Tyrrell, and President Otto H. Liebers of the Salt-Wahoo Watershed District.

Beatrice Slates Pool, Senior Citizens Votes

Southeast Nebraska Bureau

Beatrice — A dual purpose special election apparently will face voters here July 16 as they ponder both a $173,000 swimming pool and a low-income housing project for the elderly.

The City Council Monday night linked the two proposals, subject to approval later this week of the newly created Beatrice Housing Authority.

Nearly $1,000 will be saved by presenting the two issues in the same election.

'On Merits'

Some councilmen felt the double presentation might help both, although Walt Braun of the pool-promoting Jaycees said his organization would prefer "to win or lose on the merits of the swimming pool alone."

The council did go on record backing the pool, which would replace the present 41-year-old structure in Riverside Park.

"There's no doubt about the need for a pool," Braun said, "and we've left the location entirely up to a consulting engineer."

It is anticipated that construction would begin in the fall and that the facility could be available for next summer. The federal-backed housing project, expected to be less controversial, requires an election before the Housing Authority can proceed with plans and other government procedures.

Highway Widening

In other action, the council entered into a no-cost agreement with the State Department of Roads for widening to 4 lanes U.S. 77 from the north edge of the city to approximately three-fourths of a mile north. The project would continue beyond the Big Indian Creek bridge.

Another scheduled town improvement was announced by Mayor W. W. Cook Sr., this a private two-deck parking facility to be built above his Beatrice National Bank's present parking lot.

The council authorized construction overhanging the sidewalk and alley, thus permitting 106 parking facilities in all for the off-street site.

The council also:

—referred to the Board of Public Works bids from 5 firms on a 3400 tandem roller for the Street Department.

—approved rezoning from residential to general business a block on Court St. where the new Umpire Supermarket is scheduled for construction. There was no opposition to the change, which includes the block from LaSalle to Sumner, Court to Mary.

—passed an ordinance and gave second reading to 3 others permitting the Board of Public Works to make purchases up to $5,000 for extensive additions without council consent, and up to $2,000 without taking bids.

—heard a report from Bud Pente, former Civil Defense director, that a project for the director's position has apparently been decided against the $200 per month job. Gase County is now without a director.

—discussed the possibility of closing the southwest Beatrice detour during resurfacing of West Court St. Complaints of dust have been numerous since the project started, and calcium chloride has been applied to lessen the problem.

Homes Planned

Mexico City (AP)—Final plans are being worked out to build 1,208 homes in Monterrey for workers. It's a $3.8 million project.

Washington (AP) — The Supreme Court took a long-awaited step toward defining its views on fair representation in state legislatures and in Congress by agreeing Monday to hear arguments from 5 states.

The cases will be heard in the next term which the court will begin in October, but no dates were set. The decisions, which are almost certain to have a broad impact in many states, may not come for a year or more.

The high tribunal, rushing toward a wind-up of this term next Monday, agreed also to hear next fall 4 more 1960 lunch counter sit-in cases from 3 states — Florida, South Carolina, and Maryland.

Vacated Convictions
And, in a series of unanimous votes, the court vacated the convictions of 75 Negroes in 5 Virginia restaurant sit-in cases. The lower courts were instructed to reconsider the cases in light of the Supreme Court's May 20 decisions up-setting sit-in convictions.

The court said then that a city cannot by policy or by law prosecute Negroes for demonstrating against racial discrimination in stores and other public places.

The unsigned orders did not indicate why the justices decided to hear 4 more sit-in cases while letting the Virginia appeals rest on the May 20th decision.

Strikes Down Law
In another decision with potentially widespread implications the court unanimously struck down a Missouri law that authorized the governor to seize and operate privately owned public utilities when a strike threatens the public welfare.

Justice Potter Stewart, who wrote the decision, noted that the negotiations between the Kansas City Transit Co. and the Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employees was governed by the National Labor Relations Act. Then he commented:

"Collective bargaining, with the right to strike at its core, is the essence of the federal scheme."

In St. Louis Gov. John M. Dalton said "the court ruling leaves us with little protection for the public welfare."

State Atty. Gen. Thomas F. Eagleton said the state may seek a rehearing.

To Review Decision
In the same field the court agreed to review a decision that the National Labor Relations Act ban on secondary boycotts does not apply to picketing of neutral retail stores unless it is shown that the stores have suffered economic injury.

The reapportionment suits are a follow-up to last year's decision that state and federal courts have the authority to weigh what is fair legislative apportionment.

At the heart of the question is the complaint by urban voters that rural voters have more than their proportionate share of representatives in the state legislatures and in Congress.

The cases to be heard are from Alabama, Virginia, Maryland, New York and Georgia. Three appeals involving Oklahoma were denied hearings on procedural grounds.

Basic Decision
The basic lower court decision to be considered in the cases to be heard next term are these:

—A temporary plan for reapportionment of the Alabama legislature ordered last year by a 3-judge federal court in Montgomery.

—A special 3-judge federal court decision in Alexandria that 1962 reapportionment acts of the Virginia legislature are unconstitutional.

—A Maryland court of appeals decision that the Maryland senate need not be reapportioned because seats are allotted on the federal plan by geography rather than population.

—A special 3-judge federal court ruling that New York City radio station WMCA had failed to prove that New York State's legislative reapportionment was "invidiously discriminatory."

—A special 3-judge court's decision that 9 voters had failed to prove that their constitutional rights were violated in the drawing of boundaries of 4 congressional districts in Manhattan Borough of New York City.

—A special 3-judge federal court's dismissal of appeals by two Fulton County, Georgia voters who sought to compel reapportionment of Georgia's congressional districts.

Man Admits Being An FLQ Initiator

Montreal (UPI) — A 33-year-old Belgium-born immigrant admitted Monday that he was "one of the initiators" of the Quebec Liberation Front (FLQ) and had taken personal part in some of its recent bombings.

But questioned about the April 20 explosion that took the life of a recruiting station watchman, he said only: "I knew somebody had a bomb."

Georges Schoeters, in a dramatic appearance before a coroner's jury investigating the watchman's death, admitted planting a bomb that delayed then prime minister John Diefenbaker's train near Quebec City in February. But he added:

Just Coincidence
"We didn't know the prime minister was going to pass there. It was just a coincidence."

Schoeters also told the jury that he and others set off a device at the RCAF building in Montreal last month. He said explosives for that blast had been stored in his home.

Other bombings took place without his prior knowledge, he said, adding the members sometimes took such actions without telling the others.

"A person was free," he said, "as long as he kept himself to a federal building or monument — but certainly not in a department store."

Held as Witnesses
Schoeters and his 25-year-old wife, Jeanne, are among 15 persons being held as material witnesses in the bomb death of watchman Wilfred V. O'Neil, 65.

All 15 of the accused were at the hearing, which adjourned shortly after 4 p.m. EDT until 10 a.m. EDT Tuesday. The inquiry is expected to last two more days.

Schoeters said he was both

"initiator" of the separatist FLQ and "coordinator" of an organization that preceded it. He said the FLQ as such came into being in late February this year and had grown in membership from 3 to about 30.

During his appearance in a packed courtroom here, Schoeters repeatedly pleaded for a chance to see his lawyer.

He sent a gasp through the spectators when he said that while he had been a prisoner of the Nazis 20 years ago, he had never been treated as roughly as the Montreal police.

Speaking in French, the witness said: "I am physically shot. I have not washed for a week. I have been threatened."

Mrs. Elmo Gottula of 310 So. 50th, told police a burglar broke into her home early Sunday and stole $45 from a wallet in a dresser drawer.

According to police, the intruder gained entrance either through an unlocked door or by means of a key hidden nearby. Nothing else was reported disturbed.

The Lancaster District Court ruling last week holding unconstitutional the law under which the State Board of Education has been approving schools has "implications far beyond those that appear on the surface," Dr. Freeman B. Decker said Monday.

Decker, now coordinator of the State Teachers Colleges, served as state commissioner of education at the time the law at issue was written.

"If the State Board of Education no longer has authority to approve and accredit schools, there will be no approved or accredited schools in Nebraska," Decker stated, and he then noted that "many colleges and universities throughout the country admit only graduates from accredited schools."

He added that he believes Nebraska's schools of nursing also require that its students must have graduated from an approved or accredited school.

Another example of the far-reaching effect of the ruling cited by Decker was utilization by schools of federal surplus property.

He noted that Nebraska schools "get millions of dollars worth of federal surplus property every year, and it's available only to approved and accredited schools."

Decker said he was "terribly disappointed" at the ruling by District Judge Bartlett Boyles and recalled that he and the State Department of Education and state board "worked long and hard" on the law "and had some of the best legal minds available helping us."

He noted, also, that the department and board had before them the reasons why the old law had been declared unconstitutional and that these had been taken into consideration in writing the law passed by the 1959 Legislature.

"Apparently it is going to be necessary for the Legislature to write into complete detail all the requirements for approval or accreditation of schools—leaving nothing to the discretion of the State Board of Education," Decker said.

He added that he thought it "far too important an issue for the Legislature to try to do in the remaining days of the session."

State Education Commissioner Dr. Floyd A. Miller said Monday he will confer with the attorney general this week about the ramifications of the ruling.

"We want to know every possible effect the ruling will have and what course of action we will take," he said.

'Spending' Resolution Introduced By Marvel

A resolution proposing a special interim study of government spending in Nebraska was introduced Monday by Sen. Richard Marvel of Hastings, Budget Committee chairman.

The resolution, No. 51, was referred to the Legislative Council's Executive Committee, which will recommend which of many proposed interim studies shall be undertaken.

Under the new resolution, a 5-member Legislative Council committee would be empowered to ask assistance from private citizens representing major segments of the economy and recognized authorities in their particular fields to counsel and advise the committee.

Budget Group Has New Bill

The Budget Committee voted Monday to submit a new bill to the Legislature which would eliminate surplus property accounts from various state agencies and require placing these funds in the state's general fund.

The step has been recommended as a method of simplifying and updating state accounting procedures.

In other action, the committee voted to kill LBs 170, 492 and 534 — measures which sought special levies for building purposes of various agencies of government.

The committee last week advanced to the floor LB439, a measure dealing with the over-all institutional building fund levy, after amending it to increase the levy from its present 1.1 mills to 1.75 mills.

The bills killed Monday: LB439, called for a special property tax of 20 of a mill to finance new building and improvements for the Nebraska School for the Deaf at Omaha.

LB440, sought creation of a special building levy of 20 of a mill for the 4 state teachers colleges.

LB441, sought establishment of a special levy of 6 of a mill for building purposes at the University of Nebraska.

Dear Abby

One of The Very Best

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: On Mother's Day my brother and his wife came to visit us. Maxine was telling us how much she liked the china set her husband had given her. Then she asked what Phil had given me. He broke into the conversation with, "She's no mother, what do I have to give her a present for?" Abby, I have four children. But they are all adopted because I can't have children. This made me feel terrible. Have you any advice?

NO MOTHER DEAR MOTHER: In my opinion, any woman who is unable to bear children, but wants so desperately to be a mother that she will adopt them, deserves the title of mother with a capital "M". She is more Mother than the female who accidentally conceives and then resigns herself to her fate. You, madame, exemplify motherhood in its highest form. Quadruple congratulations!

DEAR ABBY: Tell "Wet Pillow," who cried because her husband gave her $20 and told her to go out and buy herself a Mother's Day gift, she doesn't know how lucky she is. Mother's Day happened to fall on my birthday this year. I've been married eleven years and we have three lovely children. My husband didn't even wish me a Happy Mother's Day or a Happy Birthday. Instead he gave me a big lecture on how "commercial" Mother's Day and all the other holidays have become.

"CRIED ME A RIVER"

DEAR ABBY: How long is a high school senior obligated to a young lady after he has invited her to the senior prom? Or perhaps I should put it this way: How long should a young lady keep a young man waiting for her answer to his invitation? At this writing, our son has been kept dangling for 72 hours.

"PINKEY"

DEAR PINKEY: After dangling for 24 hours, a young man can consider himself "cut down."

For a personal, unpublished answer to your letter, write ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Suburbia Busy With Fun Planning

KESSLER HEIGHT

It's that time of year again when the minds of busy suburban residents turn to thoughts of fun-filled vacations. These also are times of tribulations, however, as each member of the family has decided on the perfect vacation spot — all in different directions.

Yes, indeed, these are busy days in Suburbia, and whether it's vacation planning time or not, there always is something brewing in these busy areas.

A recent visitor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Holdren was Mr. Holdren's mother, Mrs. Chris-the Salton of Marathon, Iowa.

Mrs. Salton arrived a week ago yesterday and returned to her home in Iowa on Monday.

We also have news of a recent departure in Kessler Heights this week. It seems that Mr. and Mrs. Jack Mason and their children, Jody, Jill and Peggy have left Lincoln for a six-month residence in Casper, Wyo.

The Mason family will return to their Kessler Heights home sometime in the late fall.

FIENE HEIGHTS

There is news from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray

Yost this morning. Mr. Yost has just returned from a 10-day fishing trip at Marson, Canada, which is near the Lake of the Woods.

Mr. Yost's traveling and fishing companions were Earl Christensen, Pat Vinlove and George Burback, and from what we hear, it was a very successful trip.

And last Sunday, Miss Connie Yost was confirmed at Grace Lutheran Church. Following the confirmation, members of the family and Mrs. Yost's brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. John Chandler and daughter Barbara, celebrated the occasion with a family dinner at a local restaurant.

Later that afternoon the Yost family was surprised by a visit from Miss Kay Strauss of Dallas, Texas.

KIMBERLY HEIGHTS

Guests who arrived last Thursday at the home of Mrs. Howard Frey and her daughter Donna, are Mrs. Frey's sister-in-law and son, Mrs. Lena Frey and Norman of Guide Rock.

Mrs. Frey and Norman arrived in time to attend Donna's graduation from Southeast High School and plan to stay at the Frey home for a few days.

SKYLINE TERRACE

Mr. and Mrs. Richard

Wibel and their children, Debra and Mark have just returned from a week's pleasure and business trip to Denver, Colo., where Mr. Wibel attended the American Institute of Banking convention.

The Wibel family spent six days in Denver and then motored to Colorado Springs where they managed to squeeze in some swimming along with their sightseeing.

Mr. and Mrs. Wibel and their children returned to their Skyline Terrace home last Wednesday.

Motoring to Beatrice recently were the members of the Eugene Kreuzberg family. While in Beatrice, Mr. and Mrs. Kreuzberg and their sons, Bruce and Bryan visited with Mr. Kreuzberg's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Kreuzberg.

COSMETICS—STREET FLOOR

At an 8 o'clock ceremony solemnized Monday evening, June 10, Miss Mary Providence Teale, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd D. Teale, became the bride of Sigurd Algren Jensen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Jensen of Gilford Village, Laconia, N.H. The lines of the service were read by the Rev. J. Ford Forsyth at First-Plymouth Congregational Church, and Ernest Bedell, organist, played the wedding music.

Silk taffeta frocks in the raspberry sherbet tone were worn by the attendants who were Miss Carolyn Myers of Benedict, as the maid of honor, and the bridesmaids, Miss Cathy Turlson, Omaha, Miss Sharon Rice and Miss Sherrill Whittemore. They carried nosegays of white carnations and sweetheart roses.

Truman Reed of Chautauqua, N.Y., served Mr. Jensen as best man, and seating the guests were Phil Boroff, Andrew Wolvin and Joseph Teale.

For her wedding gown, the bride selected white silk organza over taffeta touched with re-embroidered Alencon lace. Appliques of the lace patterned the short-sleeved basque, which was designed with a rounded decolletage, and the lace was repeated on the bouffant skirt which continued into a chapel train. Her veil of silk illusion was held to the head by a circlet of pearls and iridescent sequins, and she carried an arrangement of white roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Jensen will spend the summer months at the Lakes Region Playhouse, Laconia-Glendale, N.Y., after which they will reside in Duluth, Minn., where the bridegroom is a member of the faculty of the Duluth Branch, University of Minnesota. He is a graduate of the University of South Dakota and received his Masters degree at Pennsylvania State University.

The bride attended the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Alpha Lambda Delta, Psi Chi and Nebraska Masquers. Both Mr. and Mrs. Jensen are members of the National Collegiate Players.

For the marriage of Miss Susanne Crabbe, niece of Mr. and Mrs. Ray W. Scott, to Joe W. Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Johnson of Hannibal, Mo., on Monday evening, June 10, white candles in pedestal candelabra lighted the chancel of Christ Methodist Church. The service was solemnized at 7:30 o'clock by the Rev. Nye O. Bond.

Mrs. Carol Kraus of Des Moines, Iowa, as the matron of honor, Mrs. L. D. Franklin, the bridesmatron, and the bridesmaid, Miss Dianne Ellickson of Minneapolis, wore identical sheath frocks of silk organza in the teal blue shade.

Serving as best man was Russell G. Palmer of Jefferson City, Mo., and seating the guests were Harold Rothweiler, Hannibal, Mo., Tom Ragland and Lyle D.

Franklin.

French lace and silk chiffon in traditional white were chosen by the bride for her wedding gown. The sleeveless bodice of chiffon was covered by a brief jacket of the lace, designed with long sleeves and a high neckline, and below the slim waist, the skirt was draped into soft folds and extended to floor length. A queen's crown of pearls and crystal beading held her veil of transparent silk, and her bouquet was fashioned of white orchids.

Mr. Johnson and his bride will make their home at 1501 So. 29th. A graduate in medical technology at the University of Nebraska College of Medicine in Omaha, Mrs. Johnson is a member of Alpha Xi Delta sorority. The bridegroom is a senior at the University of Nebraska and a member of Sigma Tau engineering honorary.

Shirley Parker Honored

A popular June bride-elect was the guest of honor on Monday morning when Mrs. Harold Dillman entertained a group of friends at her home in courtesy to Miss Shirley Parker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald I. Parker.

Following a 10 o'clock brunch, a bathroom and gadget shower was presented to Miss Parker, who will become the bride of John Hardin of Arnold on Sunday, June 16.

On Saturday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Parker will be host and hostess at a pre-nuptial dinner at the University Club honoring their daughter and her fiance.

Included among the out of town guests will be Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jackson of San Antonio, Tex., formerly of Lincoln, and the parents of Mrs. James Decker (Janelle Jackson) of Elmira, N.Y., who will attend Miss Parker as matron of honor.

To Entertain PEO Chapter

Mrs. R. O. Garlinghouse will be hostess to the members of Chapter DL, PEO, at her home, 3400 So. 28th, on Saturday morning. Following a 10:30 o'clock coffee, reports on the state convention will be given.

Miss Mary Alice Wall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor D. Wall of La Junta, Colo., became the bride of Thomas Alan Harper, son of Mrs. Boyce J. Harper, at an 8 o'clock wedding on Sunday evening, June 9. The ceremony was solemnized by Dr. L. W. Welch, dean of student affairs at Union College in Lincoln, at the First Presbyterian Church in La Junta.

Miss Margaret Wall of La Junta, who was her sister's maid of honor, and the bridesmaids, Miss Dianne Willhoite, La Junta, Miss Betty Downey, Denver, and Miss Sharon Bye, sister of the bridegroom, were frocked in white silk organza over taffeta and each carried a single white rose.

Serving his brother as best man was Robert Harper, and the ushers were Lawrence Duffield, Boulder, Colo., Carlyle Welch and Monte Morris.

The bride appeared in a gown of white satin designed in the colonial mode. A wide berth collar of Alencon lace accented the short-sleeved basque, and the full skirt continued into a chapel train. The couple will reside at Van Nuys, Calif. A graduate of Union College, Mr. Harper took graduate study at the University of Nebraska and is serving as a physician at the Naval Missile Center, Pt. Mugu, Calif. Also a graduate of Union College, Mrs. Harper will continue her studies in medical-surgical nursing administration at Loma Linda University.

It Seems To Me

Here's A Rainy Day Project

Patricia Scott

You might like to make some barbecue accessories for fun. Bibs hold all necessary utensils and they launder beautifully. Also, a tablecloth with weights is handy because it will not fly around on a breezy day.

Barbecue Bib (see illustration): Each bib is made of an 18-inch square of denim and 4 1/4 yards of matching or contrasting bias tape.

1. After cutting fabric into 18-inch squares, round off the two top corners and scoop out a little at the center for neckline curve. The shape should be similar to the one illustrated.

2. Bind each side starting at the neck edge and working down towards the bottom. Bind the neck edge, leaving an 18-inch tie on either tie end. Stitch closed each tie end. Bind the bottom edge, leaving a 20-inch tie on either end and stitch each tie end closed.

3. Mark bib for a series of vertical buttonholes in the following order so they will act as slots to hold your utensils:

One pair at center of neck two inches from neck edge and one inch apart (for napkin).

One pair two inches from bottom edge, and three inches apart (for knife).

One pair three and three-fourth inches from bottom bottom edge and two and a half inches apart (for fork).

One pair five and three-eighth inches from bottom and one and three-fourth inches apart (for spoon).

4. Stitch all buttonholes, twice around each one. Slit them open. Place utensils in slots. Roll the bibs up and place on the table for each guest.

PICNIC TABLECLOTH:

1. Cut cloth the proper size for your table.

2. Finish raw edges one of two ways. Either turn a narrow hem and machine stitch, or, if you prefer, bind all edges with bias tape.

3. Stitch flat weights that come by the yard on a tape to the wrong side of the cloth one inch from the edge and around the four sides.

Carpenter Fears New Budget Will Boost Property Taxes

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff voiced apprehension Monday that 1963 legislative appropriations will force an increase in state property taxes.

He said he has heard rumors of efforts "to load the budget" in order "to embarrass those of us who voted against the income tax."

These were the highlights of the ensuing discussion:

—Sen. Carpenter said he will move to defer the final passage of all pending money-spending bills until the biennial appropriations bill has been scrutinized and an overall spending figure has been determined so the amount of property tax increase involved can be ascertained.

—Carpenter sought unsuccessfully to draw from Budget Committee Chairman Sen. Richard Marvel of Hastings a rough-figure report on how much additional spending is called for in the still-secret budget bill. Marvel said he didn't have the figure immediately at hand.

—Marvel said that although his committee has completed work on the budget bill, it'll take one week to type the bill and another week to get it printed, meaning it'll take two weeks to get the printed bill delivered to the floor.

—Sen. Michael Russillo of Omaha said he has calculated that money raising bills already passed, coupled with the customary increase in property valuations and a modest .25 of a mill increase in the state levy, would bring in $17 million in the next two years.

—"If a $17 million increase in the budget isn't enough for the biennium, I don't know what is," said Russillo.

Sen. Sam Klaver of Omaha moved that all money-costing bills currently awaiting floor debate be placed at the head of general file where they will be considered ahead of non-money bills.

Speaker William Moulton of Omaha called attention to a legislative rule to this effect and Klaver settled for unanimous consent to arrange the bills in conformity.

Sen. Carpenter, pressing for information on the money recommendations of the Budget Committee, said the body is handicapped in acting on other money-costing bills and puts itself in danger of spending more than might have been spent if the amount of the budget bill was known.

Sen. Frank Nelson of O'Neill said "I think we are able to take care of the needs of the State of Nebraska. I don't think we can take care of the wants."

'South Dakota Has History Of Taking Advantage Of Nebraska'

State Sen. George Syas of Omaha Monday charged the State of South Dakota "has a history of taking advantage of Nebraska."

Syas' comment was prompted by a statement over the weekend by South Dakota Gov. Archie Gubbrud, condemning a recently-passed Nebraska legislative resolution was unfair to his state.

"The state of South Dakota has a long history of trying to take advantage of Nebraska in reciprocal agreements," Syas said in an interview. He told that in 1955 the South Dakota Legislature passed a "cattle tax" law designed to the "complete advantage of South Dakota and the complete disadvantage of Nebraska."

The law, Syas said, was eventually declared unconstitutional by South Dakota courts "only pointing up the inequality of their own thinking." The law stated that cattle owned in Nebraska but grazing in South Dakota were liable to a 50 cents per head tax by South Dakota each month.

Gubbrud called unfair a resolution condemning a portion of an earlier South Dakota-Nebraska boundary agreement. The resolution rejected that portion of the tentative agreement allowing reciprocal hunting and fishing rights in the hotly disputed Gavins Point Dam tailwaters on the Missouri River near Yankton, S.D.

The agreement was sealed by the governors and boundary commissions of the two states in Omaha May 10 after several previous efforts to settle the fishing rights war fizzled out. It was subject to the approval of the Legislature of both states.

Syas reaffirmed his belief that the agreement was not wholly within the authority of the governor and Boundary Commission of Nebraska to negotiate.

"We've made all the concessions to South Dakota in the past and, frankly, I am just plain fed up with their attitude. So, apparently are the other members of the Nebraska Legislature," Syas said.

If South Dakota is intent on being fair, Syas said, "Why don't they come down to earth and repeal their law prohibiting nonresidents from hunting migratory waterfowl? It seems to me this would be in the spirit of fairness."

The Omaha lawmaker said he understands the South Dakota game law "goes so far as to prohibit Nebraskans from hunting ducks on South Dakota's side of Lewis and Clark Lake above the dam. This certainly is not fair."

Too, Syas said the "governor of South Dakota can yell foul play all he wants. As far as I am concerned, this thing is settled. We have made our position crystal clear and we don't intend to budge."

The controversy has been brewing since late last year when the Nebraska Game Commission voted unanimously to revoke a reciprocal fishing licenses agreement with South Dakota in the tailwaters area. The action was in retaliation to South Dakota's unique game law.

$28 Million In Road Work Due For Omaha Area

Omaha (U)—More than $28 million in major highway, street and bridge improvements in the Omaha area will be placed under contract in the next 18 months.

The Nebraska Department of Roads plans projects in Douglas and Sarpy Counties carrying a price tag of $20,973,000. Omaha will add $6,425,000 and Douglas County will spend $750,000 on a street widening project.

The largest single item will be the Interstate highway bridge between Omaha and Council Bluffs. It is expected to cost almost $7 million.

The funds also will be used for viaducts, a 3-level traffic stack at a highway interchange, a new expressway, Interstate extension and street widening.

Sachs Placed On 1 Year Probation By USAC

... COMMENTS TERMED HARMFUL TO RACING

Indianapolis (U) — The U.S. Auto Club executive committee placed driver Eddie Sachs, Detroit, on probation for one year Monday for uttering comments it considered detrimental to racing. He will be permitted to drive in USAC races.

Sachs was quoted after the Memorial Day Indianapolis 500-mile race as criticizing officials for not flagging winner Parnelli Jones, Torrance, Calif., off the track when Jones' car began leaking oil. Sachs later spun out of the race.

Jones slugged him in an argument between the two the next day.

USAC President Tom Blford warned Sachs the organization would "tolerate no further irresponsible, unsupported statements casting reflections on the integrity of USAC officials."

Carefree, Ariz. (U) — Most golfers are happy with birdsies, but not Laurie K. Luoma of Phoenix.

Especially if the birdie turns out to be a hawk. Luoma, golfing with a companion Sunday, lobbed a long one down the fairway of the Desert Forest Golf Course about 20 miles north of Phoenix. A sharp-eyed hawk swooped down, latched onto the ball and took off with it.

In addition to losing the ball, the bird cost Luoma penalty strokes as well.

Coaching Credentials Vary

Credentials which moved the 8 coaches of the College World Series teams into the head diamond tutoring spots vary from major league backgrounds to that of a trainer.

Rod Dedeaux of Southern California, Bibb Falk of Texas and Danny Litwhiler of Florida State all came to their present posts after stints in the baseball big leagues. Penn State coach Chuck Medlar is in his first year as diamond director after 17 years as head trainer for all Nittany Lion athletic teams.

Falk had by far the most success of any of the 3 former major leaguers with teams in the current College World Series which runs all this week in Omaha. The Texas coach compiled a .314 lifetime batting average in 1,354 games. He played in the major leagues from 1920 to 1931 with Chicago's White Sox and Cleveland Indians.

His best year was 1924 when he rapped the ball at a .352 clip in 138 games for the White Sox. Falk trailed a player named Babe Ruth who hit .378 for the American League batting title that year. Two years later Falk batted .345 in 155 games for the Chicago.

Danny Litwhiler saw service with 4 National League teams—Philadelphia, St. Louis, Boston and Cincinnati—between 1940 and 1951, compiling a lifetime batting mark of .281 in 1,057 games. His best year was 1941 when Litwhiler hit .305 in 151 games with the Phillies.

Dedeaux, who has skipped Southern California to College World Series titles in 1958 and 1961, could hardly credit his major league performance with helping him develop winning college teams. The USC boss appeared in only two major league games with the Brooklyn Dodgers in 1935. His batting average for the two contests was .250.

From Trainer To Skipper

Medlar, who took over the Penn State job from Joe Bedenk after serving as Bedenk's assistant had pitching coach for 14 years, is continuing his role as head trainer for the Penn State teams.

Medlar took over as Penn State trainer in 1948 after giving up baseball when he found his pitching arm had gone dead when he returned from a stint in the Army. The Nittany Lions coach served as head trainer for the Blue-Gray football game in 1950-51-52-53.

But although Medlar's mark in Nittany Lions athletics, until this year at least, has been as a trainer he is familiar with diamond doings.

Medlar broke into professional baseball with Beaumont of the Texas League in 1941 and moved to Buffalo in the International League the following year. But the bad arm which developed during his Army stint ended his baseball career as an active player.

More and more former major leaguers are entering the college coaching ranks with 49 college teams the past season being directed by coaches who earned their stripes with big league clubs.

Houston Happy With Sunday Night Contests

... EVENING BREEZES ATTRACT MORE THAN 17,000 FANS

Houston (U) — The first Sunday night baseball game in the major leagues apparently was a huge success—at least as far as the National League Houston Colts are concerned.

Colt officials say the game drew 4 times as many fans as it would have if it had been played in the afternoon.

The contest between the Colts and the San Francisco Giants attracted 17,437 fans, the second largest crowd ever to see a Sunday game in Houston. The Los Angeles Dodgers drew 30,000 to a day doubleheader at Colt Stadium last year.

President Roy Hofheinz of the Colts was happy with the game attendance.

"It appears Sunday night baseball is here to stay in Houston," he said.

George Kirksey, executive vice president, was even more impressed.

"We would have been lucky to have drawn 4,000 fans if the game had been in the afternoon," Kirksey said. "You can't expect people to pay their money to come to the ball park and suffer in the heat."

Houston had been given permission to play Sunday night games to escape the intense Gulf Coast heat and the contest was run off in an hour and 58 minutes in 79-degree temperature. An afternoon game would have taken place in 95 degree heat.

Casualties

At some Sunday afternoon games last year, there were instances of fans, players and umpires having to receive emergency treatment because of the intense heat.

At the Dodger-Colt game last year which drew 30,000, at least 75 persons received treatment at the first aid station.

Although the game was a success both in attendance and outcome to the Colts, it probably was a nightmare to manager Alvin Dark of San Francisco as the Giants lost the game, 3-0. The Colts were sweeping the 3-game series and extending the Giants losing streak to 7, the longest since the club went West. The Colts have 6 more Sunday night games scheduled this season and management was looking forward to them.

"These games will catch on and it will help our attendance," Kirksey said.

Lots in Minors

Sunday arc games have been fairly common in some minor leagues.

However, another proposed Sunday night game at St. Louis some time ago was cancelled by order of former commissioner A. B. Chandler on the theory it would interfere with church attendance.

Colt officials said there had been no complaints from church leaders in connection with the game.

Fans who attended the game were presented special certificates in honor of the occasion.

Colts Improved

Manager Harry Craft of the Colts believes the Houston defense makes the team much stronger than at this time a year ago.

The pitching was tight in 1962 and is doing the job again, but the 1962 team scored a few more runs.

"We just aren't giving away the runs this year that we did last season," Craft said.

The losers in the last 7 Colt games before Sunday night had scored one run. Sunday night the Giants scored none. Four of those 7 games had been 2-1 contests.

Houston pitchers haven't given up a home run the last 8 games.

Second Whitewash

The shutout of San Francisco was only the second time it has happened to the Giants this season.

Dark put the Giants through an extra workout Saturday to try to change their luck and stop the losing streak. Sunday, the Giants didn't come onto the field until 7:20 and didn't even take batting practice.

Neither method worked.

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

Omaha—Missouri right-hander Keith Weber pitched his way out of a bases-loaded situation in the top of the 9th inning to preserve a 3-0 shutout as the Tigers scored an opening round victory in the College World Series here Monday night.

Weber struck out 7 and walked only one man in pitching the 6-hit victory. Meanwhile, his Tiger teammates rapped highly-touted Holy Cross southpaw Dick Joyce for 10 hits.

The Holy Cross team never threatened until the top half of the 9th inning when Jim Holloran led off with a double. Hank Cutting's grounder then got through Missouri shortstop John Simmons Jr. and a base on balls after the next two men lined out loaded the bases.

But Weber then got Bob Arena, who has hit 7 home runs this year, to strike out and end the game.

Missouri scored its first run off Joyce, who has been offered a $100,000 bonus by the Boston Red Sox, in the 4th inning on a fielders choice, a passed ball and a run-scoring single by John Sevcik.

The Tigers added insurance runs in the 5th and 8th innings.

Monday night's crowd of 6,552 combined with the 1,762 who viewed the afternoon action for an opening day total of 8,314.

Missouri will meet Texas, an 8-3 winner over Southern California, at 8:15 tonight.

Omaha (U) — Texas bunched 5 runs into the first inning in an 8-3 victory over Southern California Monday night and joined Florida State and Arizona as first round victors in the College Baseball World Series.

Florida State capitalized on 3 unearned runs in the 9th inning and defeated mistake-plagued Western Michigan, 3-2.

Arizona erupted for 4 runs in the 6th inning and overpowered Penn State, 8-1, behind the 6-hit pitching of Sherwin Scott in Monday's opening game of the double-elimination NCAA tournament.

Fastballer Bob Myer, posting his 11th victory for Texas, didn't allow Southern Cal a hit after the 3rd inning and finished with a 5-hitter. Myer struck out 11, 7 straight in one stretch during the final 3 innings, and retired the last 14 batters in order.

Bob Thompson touched Myer for a 2-run homer in the second. Southern California scored its last run in the 4th when Texas committed 4 of its 5 errors.

Fremont's Johnson Wins PGA Meet Berth

... JOINS EARLIER QUALIFIER BUD WILLIAMSON

By DAVE WOHLFARTH
Star Sports Writer

Gene Johnson of Fremont won the PGA sectional qualifying round at the Lincoln Country Club Monday with a 4-over-par 148 for 36 holes.

Johnson's 148 edged out Matt Zadalis of Miller Park in Omaha and Bonny Graham of the Sioux City (Ia.) Country Club, who both carded 149's.

Six professionals participated in the qualifying round, which determined the Nebraska PGA Section (includes a portion of Iowa) qualifiers to the national PGA tournament.

Bud Williamson, Lincoln Country Club golf pro, did not play in Monday's round as he had qualified for the sectional tournament by winning the Sectional Championship last week in Omaha. Williamson shot a practice round Monday and toured 18 holes in 67 strokes.

Both Williamson and Johnson are planning to play in the National PGA Tourney July 18-21 at Dallas, Tex.

Fast Finish

Johnson came back from a mediocre morning round of 75 and rallied on the last 9 holes to win. The 22-year old assistant golf pro at Fremont, the youngest player in the tourney, shot a 73 in his afternoon round, including a 1-under-par 35 on the back 9.

After bogeying the 10th, the "Spider," as he is known on the fairways, birdied the 11th, 13th and 16th holes. Johnson took a bogey on the 17th but sank a 4-foot putt on the last hole for a par 4 and the low total score for the day.

Zadalis, playing in an earlier threesome, had missed a chance for a 148 when he muffed a short putt on the 18th. He had scores of 40-34 and 36-39 for the two rounds and had 7 birdies for the day's activities. Three double bogeys and 6 bogeys slowed his chances.

Good Final Round

Graham had a good afternoon round after shooting a 79 in the morning. He used 36 strokes on the first 9, then came back with a 34 (including birdies on 3 of the first 4 holes) on the second 9 to finish with a 70 round and a 149 total.

There was a tie for 4th between Al Belster, Fremont, and Tom Weeks of South Sioux City at 151. Emil Roed-wert of the Shenandoah (Ia.) Legion Club was 6th with 158.

The victory was the first major tournament win for Johnson since he turned pro two years ago. However, he did qualify for the U.S. Open Sectional Tourney at Kansas City last year.

He not only had to outshoot the field but, also had to whip his boss to win. Belster, the head pro at the Fremont Golf Club, shot in the same trio with Johnson and Roewert. Johnson's totals for the day included 4 birdies, 6 bogeys and one double bogey, plus 25 par holes.

Giants Crack LA, 7-3 Stop 7-Game Nosedive

LARSEN RECEIVES FIRST VICTORY

Los Angeles (AP) — The San Francisco Giants broke an 8th inning tie on a 430-foot homer by Orlando Cepeda and pulled out of a 7-game losing streak Monday night by defeating the Los Angeles Dodgers, 7-3, before 52,993.

That ended a 5-game winning streak for the National League leading Dodgers and left them only two percentage points ahead of the second-place St. Louis Cardinals. The Giants are tied for 3rd, one game back of Los Angeles.

Willie McCovey and Ed Bailey each slammed a two-run homer for the Giants and Willie Mays collected 3 singles, driving in one run and scoring two.

Right-hander Don Larsen pitched 3 1/3 innings in relief of Billy Pierce and got the victory, his first in 4 decisions. Larsen, who allowed only one hit, had the bases loaded on walks with two away in the 6th. He got out of that jam when Gilliam grounded out.

But he got out of the jam by striking out Jim Gilliam. Larsen had come on with bases loaded and two away in the 6th. He got out of that jam when Gilliam grounded out.

The score was tied, 3-3, when Cepeda opened the 8th with his decisive homer off reliever Ron Perranoski. It was Orlando's 12th. Perranoski worked two innings, allowing 3 of San Francisco's 12 hits, and took the loss. He is 7-2.

Hubbs' Hit Lifts Cubs Past Colts

Houston (AP) — Ken Hubbs laced a two-out single to center off ace relief pitcher Hal Woodeshick Monday night, scoring pinch runner Jim Shaffer with the tie-breaking run in the Chicago Cubs' 3-2 victory over Houston.

The loss was only the second against 5 victories for Woodeshick and it was the first earned run he had given up in 22 innings, all in relief. Dick Bertell opened the decisive 9th with a single past short and Shaffer went in to run for him. Lindy McDaniel sacrificed him to second and, after one more was out, Hubbs singled in the winning run.

The victory, which went to McDaniel in relief, was the first in 4 games for the Cubs and snapped a 3-game losing streak.

Houston's 12th, Perranoski worked two innings, allowing 3 of San Francisco's 12 hits, and took the loss. He is 7-2.

Angels Bomb Kansas City With 18 Hits

Kansas City (AP) — The Los Angeles Angels smashed 3 home runs as they unloaded an 18-hit attack against the Kansas City Athletics and scored a 13-3 victory Monday night behind Dan Osinski, who gained his 5th triumph.

Leon Wagner hit a two-run homer for the Angels in the first against Orlando Pena. Ed Sadowski homered with no one on in the 8th and Charley Dees hit a three-run homer in the same inning.

Sadowski, Felix Torres, Albie Pearson and Lee Thomas all had three hits apiece. The 18 hits are high for the Angels this season and the 13 runs equalled their best mark of the season.

Mets Hang 9th Defeat On Reds' Jay; Stallard Wins 1st Game In 2 Years

New York (AP)—Tracy Stallard picked up his first pitching victory in two seasons Monday night, throwing a 7-hitter in the New York Mets' 3-2 decision over the Cincinnati Reds.

Stallard, who gained dubious fame as the man who was tagged for Roger Maris' record 61st homer on the final day of the 1961 season, just won on Sept. 3 of that year with the Boston Red Sox. He was obtained by the Mets this year and lost his first 3 decisions in the National League.

Joeey Jay, a 21-game-winner for Cincinnati in each of the past two seasons, was tagged for his 9th loss against 3 victories.

The Mets nicked the big right-hander in the 3rd inning when Jim Piersall singled and eventually scored on a single by Charlie Neal. They made it 2-0 in the 5th when Choo Choo Coleman beat out a bunt, sprinted all the way to 3rd on a wild pitch, and came in when Pete Rose dropped Piersall's fly in short right.

Tim Lincecum's homer in the 7th closed out the Met scoring. The Reds had collected their first run in the top of the inning on Frank Robinson's single, a wild pitch, a long fly and Gordy Coleman's infield out, then counted again in the 9th on a walk, Coleman's single and a force play.

Youthful Bonus Baby Culp Subdues Milwaukee In Rain-Shortened Game

Philadelphia (AP)—Young Ray Culp, the $100,000 bonus baby Philadelphia a most farmed out after spring training, won his 8th game for the Phillies Monday night, a 6-2 decision over the Milwaukee Braves. The game was called after 5½ innings because of rain.

It was the 4th straight victory for Culp, who allowed four hits, including Eddie Mathews' two-run homer. Culp struck out 7 and walked 4.

Left-hander Bob Hendley, 4-4, was the starter and loser for Milwaukee. He gave up a run in the first on Tony Taylor's single, a sacrifice and Tony Gonzalez' double. The Phillies sent 8 men to the plate in the 4th, scoring two runs with two hits and the help of two walks, a wild pitch and an error by Matthews in left field.

They added 3 more off relief pitcher Ron Piche in the

EX-GIANT STAR SMITH DIES

Little Rock, Ark. (AP)—Earl Sutton (Oil) Smith, a hard-driving National League baseball star of the 1920s, died in a Little Rock hospital Sunday after a long illness. He was 66.

He had lived in retirement in Hot Springs since 1940, when he quit managing minor league teams.

He was the top catcher for John McGraw's New York Giants in 1921-22 when they beat the Yankees in two straight World Series. Then he was traded to the Boston Braves after an argument with McGraw.

Smith spent 14 full seasons in the majors and batted over .300 in 5 of them. His high batting average was .346 with the Pittsburgh Pirates in

Billikens' Lee Handling Team In College Loop

St. Louis (AP)—The Central Illinois League for college baseball players announced Monday a coaching change at one of the 6 teams of the pilot league which has been backed by both the major leagues and the NCAA.

Bob Stewart, president and co-founder of the league, said Springfield will be managed by Roy Lee, coach of St. Louis University's championship Missouri Valley Conference team.

Bill Wall of MacMurray was to have been head coach, but Stewart said Wall would be an assistant at Springfield and coordinator of the league's activities.

Stewart said he and Walter Shannon, Cleveland Indians scout who helped form the league, met in Omaha, Neb., Sunday with the league's coaches and made player selections from the 13 states eligible for membership in the league. Players will report to their teams June 17 to prepare for the start of the 50-game schedule.

Last week, Stewart announced two other changes. Jack Baer of the University of Oklahoma will manage the Peoria team, replacing Leo Schroll of Bradley, and Jim Hall of Nicholls State College at Thibodaux, La., will replace Harlon Knosher of Knox College at Galesburg.

The other coaches are Jack Horenberger of Illinois Wesleyan, at Bloomington; Lee Eilbracht of the University of Illinois, at Champaign-Urbana, and Chuck Lindstrom of Lincoln College, at Lincoln.

1963 Wheat Prospects Drop 12 Million Bushels

By The Associated Press
Nebraska's 1963 winter wheat prospects declined almost 12 million bushels during May, the U.S. Department of Agriculture's monthly crop forecast indicated Monday.

Disease Loss In Panhandle Fields Placed At $5 Million

Wheat streak mosaic disease has caused at least a $5 million loss to the 1963 wheat crop in Nebraska's Panhandle.

This conservative estimate was made Monday afternoon by Dr. John Wehling, University of Nebraska Extension plant pathologist who recently toured the area with Dr. R. M. Staples of the NU staff.

The estimate is based on an expected loss of at least 2.5 million bushels of wheat, the highest loss caused by this disease since 1954.

Hardest hit areas are in Box Butte, Sheridan, Dawes and Kimball Counties. However, the pathologists feel that wheat streak mosaic is present in most of the Panhandle.

Infected fields are bright yellow in color and are very stunted in appearance. Such fields also have not headed out.

There is nothing farmers can do except destroy early volunteer wheat this fall.

Frost And Hail Blamed For Cut

State-Federal Agriculture Statistician Kenneth Logan said the drop in the winter wheat estimate for Nebraska is due to wide-spread frost and scattered hail damage throughout the state.

"We just didn't get enough early moisture in the east, compared with the western part of the state," he said.

Logan said the yield per acre estimate of 22 bushels is a drop of 4 bushels from the May estimate.

"Conditions," he said, "have been declining since the crop was first forecast last December. Most of this can be attributed to unfavorable weather conditions throughout the winter months plus a lack of precipitation."

Logan said since the first of this month, high temperatures have been forcing the wheat crop to mature in some parts of the state.

Jury Convicts 4 Of 14 Black Muslims

Los Angeles (AP) — An all-white jury Monday convicted 4 of 14 Black Muslims involved in a bloody battle with police outside the temple of the anti-white sect more than a year ago. The jury then retired to continue deliberating on verdicts for the other 10.

The court proceedings were tense and dramatic. A woman juror jumped up to announce a change in her verdict on one defendant after it had been read.

Fifteen plainclothes policemen methodically scanned the more than 150 persons, mostly Negroes, who jammed the small, 8-floor courtroom.

Superior Judge David Coleman called in the jury of 10 women and 2 men on the 14th day of their deliberation to ask how they stood.

The jury said it had found Robert L. Buice, 27; Fred Jingles Jr., 23; Monroe M. Jones Jr., 21, and Roosevelt Walker, 27, guilty of resisting officers.

Additionally it convicted Buice of simple assault, a misdemeanor, reducing the charge from felony assault.

It acquitted Walker of Assault. All 14 defendants—clad in the customary Muslim attire of neat dark suits, light shirts and dark ties—were all charged with felony assault and resisting officers.

One is permanently confined to a wheelchair by injuries suffered in the riot. When a clerk read aloud a decision of guilty of felony assault for Jingles a juror, Mrs. Josephine Byrne, jumped up and said, "No. I want to change my vote on Jingles to not guilty on Count 10"—the assault charge.

That left him convicted only of resisting officers. Judge Coleman asked jury foreman Dean Scott if he thought the panel could arrive at more verdicts if it deliberated further. Scott nodded affirmatively.

The judge told the jurors to continue deliberating and notify the court any time it had more verdicts. They filed back to their jury room.

Bodies Of 2 Sarpy Men Recovered

Council Bluffs, Iowa (AP) — The bodies of two Sarpy county men were recovered from the water of Lake Manawa south of Council Bluffs Monday afternoon.

They were identified as Robert Buresh, 24, of Papillion, and Clifford Commer, 19, of La Vista.

The men drowned Sunday afternoon when their boat overturned.

A companion, Perry McCollum, 20, of Papillion, was picked up by another boater shortly after the accident.
